Merchants May Boycott Sign Law Hearing

By FRANK LaPIERRE

To attend or not to attend, that is the question facing members of the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce today.

Last week, outgoing chamber President Frank Spadarella had "leaked" a story to news media that he and other officers of the chamber would ask their membership to boycott Thursday's public hearing before the city's Planning Commission concerning a new sign ordinance.

This revelation came in the wake of what the chamber and members of the Mission Merchants Association — the two principal groups affected by redevelopment and the ordinance — felt was a snub by planners.

But Monday a postcard notice was sent to members of the chamber, urging them to attend this "very important meeting," because as now presented the new law would affect more than 80 per cent of the signs on Mission Street and Junipero Serra Boulevard.

Attempts to contact Spadarella or chamber Manager Peter J. Markovich were unsuccessful.

Spadarella was out of town and Markovich ill at Mary's Help Hospital.

It was learned, however, that a closed door meeting involving Spadarella, Chris Giotinis, George Smith and City Manager David Rowe in Rowe's City Hall office, was held last Thursday at 4:30 p.m.

What transpired inside the meeting is not known.

Rowe has refused to comment on the matter, and others were not available for comment.

Mission Merchants members, also affected by the ordinance, did not attend.

Rowe said the chamber initiated the meeting — not his office.

Prior to this meeting, a split had been seen developing between merchants groups and City Hall following the June 11 meeting of the Planning Commission.

The meeting was attended only by Markovich, because Spadarella and Merlo said they were given the impression only correspondence on the sign issue would be read — that no other action would be taken on the matter.

At this June 11 meeting, however, planners voted unanimously (only four were present) to set a hearing for June 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall on the sign law.

Contacted after the meeting, Spadarella, who also serves as chairman of the city's recently formed 21 member Redevelopment Project Area Committee, expressed surprise and annoyance with the actions of City Planner John Walker.

Don Ciucci, redevelopment agency staff planner, urged both sides to patch up their differences over this single issue before the overall scope of the PAC was damaged, thus adversely affecting overall redevelopment planning.

Spadarella said a letter sent from Merlo, the chamber and the Project Area Committee, prior to the June 11 planning meeting, had asked that the sign ordinance be tabled.

It also pointed out that some merchants were opposed to the ordiance as written. And the PAC simply wanted time to come up with some sort of plan of its own.

It was the committee's first request of another city agency, and it was ignored, Spadarella contended.

Two days prior to the Thursday meeting with Rowe — on June 18 — Spadarella was sent two letters (one as president of the chamber and the other as chairman of the PAC) and Merlo one letter by planner Walker pointing out the fact that the commission "appreciates and recognizes the concern of the Chamber of Commerce and heard Mr. Markovich express those concerns."

Walker urged members of all theree groups to attend Thursday's public hearing.

When it first was introduced during informal talks several months ago, the sign ordinance was strongly worded.

In the face of mounting criticism and opposition from merchants, concessions have been made, officials note.

Of these, the amortization period is the single largest concession.

This section which deals with the length of time a merchant has to replace an illegal sign — about 80 per cent of all signs in the Mission-Junipero Serra Blvd. fall into this category, Spadarella ways.

The lates undated amendment to this section was issued this week. It reads:

"For any sign within a Redevelopment Project area, the designs and applicable procedural requirements herein shall be superseded by the specifications within the final plan of the Redevelopment Agency for such area."

Since Thursday's meeting with Spadarella and other members of the PAC, a meeting, which Rowe called "amicable," the attitude has warmed notably.

If the sign ordinance, as now amended, is adopted it will give the Redevelopment Agency (this, the PAC) more muscle in dealing with design and installation of signs.

Equitable Distribution

Deciding How to Bill Sanitation Charges

By FRANK LaPIERRE

In August of 1973 a $30,000 special computer study, asked by directors of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District, determined that costs of a new treatment plant should be added onto users' bi-monthly city water bills.

This would not only provide a more equitable means of distributing the costs — projected at more than $6 million — of the new treatment facility and sewage reclamation plant, but would provide a constant flow of revenue throughout the year, for operation and maintenance, some officials felt.

But the district's three directors — James V. Fitzgerald, McRobert Stewart and Anthony Giammona — recently voted unanimously to include the city's cost of the plant, plus future operational and maintenance costs, on a flat scale.

The reason: cost of including the billings on the city's water bills would be about 15 cents each. There are some 25,000 households in the city and costs would be astronomical, according to district consultant and former engineer of the NSMCSD, Robert V. Bernicchi.

Additionally, the city did not relish the idea of including yet another utility on its water bills. Charges for the city's scavenger company are already included, they point out.

If the charges are included on the assessment roles, Bernicchi explained, it will not cost the city a dime. But the district will only get its money — twice a year, he said.

Most persons appearing at recent hearings on the matter were obviously less concerned with how they were billed as they were with the fact they would be hit with yet another tax.

Many expressed the feeling that rates to offset cost of the plant should be based on either the number of baths, size of family, or water consumption.

A person who lives alone should not have to pay the same amount as a family of five, they appealed.

The Board, at a meeting in early June, lowered the charges from $36 per household (and apartment unit) to $29 per year, with a possibility that this rate could go lower or higher depending on availability of certain government funds to help the local district meet federal and state government matching share monies, according to Bernicchi.

Other charges also were modified, specifically for restaurants and other high volume water users.

Senior citizens were given special exemption.

Those over 62 years of age (before January of each year), who own and occupy the home on which an exemption is claimed, have an annual income of less than $10,000, and file the required forms (California Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Claim) with the State Franchise Tax Board, will be charged on a scale ranging from a low of .$1.15 per year (for persons making less than $2400) up to a top charge of $21.75 (for those in the $6501-$10,000 category).

A citizens advisory committee also is expected to be established to review charges for the district yearly — either increasing or decreasing the tax rate.

The number of persons on this committee has not, as yet, been determined, it was understood.

Analysis

Of the 14 cities and districts outlined in the computer application study made for the district by Peninsula Computer Systems, Inc. and Resources Engineering and Management, six include the sewer service charge on the water bill, two on a direct billing basis and the remainder on assessors roles.

The advantage of having such billing on assessment tax rate is because the item is normally deducted from income taxes as a matter of practice.

Peninsula Computers, represented by former NSMCSD director Francis P. Pacelli, offered a voluminous background and comparison study on districts operating in the San Francisco Bay Area, along with the background of the local district.

Former director Bernard J. Lycett, one of the three directors directing this and subsequent studies of the reclamation-treatment facility, said such studies are merely guides.

"They show what can be done. Because studies like this make recommendations and suggestions does not mean we (directors) must stick to any one recommendation," Lycett said.

Not only would the district have run into high costs on water billings, it would have encountered numerous headaches in dealing with outside water agencies, such as the California Water Company and San Francisco Water Department, experts felt.

"For those users of district facilities who purchase water from entities other than (Daly City), it is recommended that (they) be billed individually by the district," the Computer Study noted.

Driver Hurt in Plunge

A woman, believed to be in her mid-forties, was critically injured Tuesday morning shortly before 7:30 a.m. when her car left the Cabrillo Freeway heading north toward San Francisco and went over a steep embankment.

Witnesses told police the car rolled several times before landing on its top on Callan Boulevard some 200 feet below, trapping the victim inside.

Firemen, using special rescue tools, removed the woman, who was alone in the car. She was rushed to nearby Mary's help Hospital where she was reported in critical condition.

A fireman on the scene said witnesses to the accident observed what appeared to be another car forcing the woman off the freeway.

There is no guard rail in the area where she went off the roadway, police said.

Identity of the victim was unknown.

Attempts to identify her and locate relatives was underway, police said.

To Assist Minority Students

JESD Receives Federal Grant

The Jefferson Elementary School District has received part of a $774,731 federal grant to develop programs and to hire personnel geared towards assisting minority students and aiding desegregation.

Of the total grant, $200,500 will go to three parochial schools. They are Holy Angels, Our Lady Lady Mercy, and Our Lady of Perpetual Help. The remaining $574,231 is for the public schools in the district

William L. Fowler, district administrative assistant, said the grant will enable schools to teach minority students, develop programs and improve their skills.

Programs in reading, bilingual-bicultural education, counseling and parent bilingual-bicultural will be established in some of the schools through the grant. The school still still must decide in which schools the programs will be still up.

The reading program includes two components: A "Total Reading" aspect for kindergarten through third grade students; and a "Precision Teaching of Reading" for grades four through eight. Nearly half of the funds for the public schools will be spent for upgrading reading programs.

A bilingual-bicultural education program will be initiated in 10 schools, according to Fowler. The bilingual program allows students whose primary language is not English to get instruction in other subjects in their native language. The theory behind bilingual education is that it will help prevent the non-English speaking student from falling behind while he or she is learning English. Approximately $78,000 will go to this program.

A little less than 25 per cent of the funds will help hire the school district's first counselors. "Before the grant," Fowler said, "a counselor was a luxury we couldn't afford."

The "Parent Home Training" program is a new self-analysis project which is supposed to help the parents better communicate with their children. The parent who participates in this program is given a cassette tape to record conversations with the child and a packet of booklets which will help analyze these normal-everyday exchanges between parent and child.

Twenty parents will initially be trained in the program and they will teach the methods to other parents. Fowler said "Parent Home Training" has been successful in Oakland and Berkeley.

Meanwhile, schools three Catholic schools will be able to afford three full-time teachers both in reading and mathematics, purchase instructional equipment and fund a multicultural experiences program.

Sister said OLPH principal, schools grant will "help prevent minority isolation in the schools and help coordinate the community with the parents."

Probation Granted in Burial Case

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Harrington, the South San Francisco couple who were at one time charged with the murder of their son, were freed on probation Friday on a lesser violation by Municipal Judge F. Jose de Larios of the Northern Judicial District Court.

A violation of the Health code had been filed after the body of their son was uncovered in their backyard, where it had been found buried in a suitcase. The Harringtons told officials that they had buried the boy's body three years ago after he died in a fall.

They had pleaded guilty to violation of Health and Safety Code Section 7054, prohibiting burial of a person in a location other than a cemetery, which, according to officials, superseded the murder charge.

City Manager Recommends Revenue Sharing Projects

Daly City City Manager David Rowe has recommended projects totaling some $435,600 be funded under the federal revenue sharing program.

More than $1,270,000 had been requested by various agencies throughout the city.

Largest single item slashed from Rowe's recommendations were for construction of $130,000 for construction of tennis courts atop the city's new reservoir 5B.

Another $165,000 was chopped which would have upgraded four traffic signals at busy intersections in the city.

What remained was $40,000 for general support services for the Guadalupe Health Clinic on Wellington; $24,600 for partial funding of summer and after school recreation programs; $5,500 for summer employment of high school age youth; $64,000 for social services for the poor and aged at the city's Community Service Center on Mission Street, and; $2,600 to provide trans-

Fire Strikes Westlake Home; Major Damage

A $32,000 fire struck the Daly City home of veteran Department of Transportation engineer George J. Cooper, Friday night, according to Daly City police.

The fire mainly was confined to the basement electronic workshop where Cooper has produced many of his inventions including traffic signal devices and other electronic aids, according to Battalion Chief Mel Hanson.

At first, fears were felt for the safety of Cooper and his wife.

Major credit for saving the home went to a German Shepherd dog owned by Andrew Rudovski, who lives next door at 30 Westridge Ave., according to Hanson.

At about 9:44 p.m., the dog, named Apollo, began barking furiously. Rudovski anxiously searched his home and found nothing awry. He then went outside and checked his neighbor at 40 Westridge Ave., and found the fire.

Youth Dies

The mother of a 17-year-old Pacifica boy found her son gaving convulsions early Monday morning

Officials said that by the time an ambulance arrived, the youth was dead.

An autopsy was scheduled to determine the cause of the death of William J. Petersen, son of Eldon Petersen, of 209 Hillsdide Drive, coroner's officials said.

As his wife called firemen, Rudovski noted the Coopers' car was parked in front of the house. He and a neighbor broke into the home to seek the Coopers but were driven back by flames.

The Coopers had left two hours earlier with friends, to go out to dine.

Although the fire had spread throughout the basement area, firemen were able to keep it from invading the main floor of the home.

Cause of the fire still is under investigation. Firemen suspect possibly a strobe light charger, or another electrical appliance may have shorted, Hanson said.

Estimated damage included $10,000 to contents and $22,000 to the building.

Pay Hike Voted

Trustees of the San Bruno Parks School District Monday night unanimously approved a 7.15 per cent teacher salary and policy package for the next school year.

The district's 200 teachers will receive a 7.04 per cent salary increase and a .11 per cent fringe benefit increase. In addition, the teachers are guaranteed a one per cent "contingency" increase if extra state and/or federal funds become available before Oct. 1.

Trustees also approved a 7.15 salary and fringe benefit increase for classified personnel and for administrators.

The approval climaxes six months of negotiations between the Teachers' Rapresentative Council headed by Richard Lucett a teacher, and the Management Negotiating team, chaired by District Supt. William Jennings.

A $6,000 library van for Operation Outreach was cancelled, although the city manager recommended $56,000 be funded for books and materials at the new Serramonte Library.

Librarian Samuel Chandler had asked for $80,000.

The Lincoln Park Clubhouse expansion, a site used extensively by senior citizens in the eastern sector of the city, was funded some $23,500 — a supplement to the $58,000 already funded.

Trophy Presented in Honor of Petrocchi

Spadarella won the trophy, given for low net golf players, during this month's annual Chamber of Commerce golf tournament held at Lake Merced Country Club.

The award will be an annual event, and the master trophy will remain on permanent display inside City Hall.

Winners will be given a replica of the main trophy. Their names will also be inscribed on the plaque.

Members of local business groups and friends of the late Chief who died Easter Sunday from a heart attack, decided to present the award in tribute to Petrocchi, who was an avid golf player and never missed the Chamber tournament.

On June 19, Hansen, Charles Turner, president of First National Bank of Daly City; Chris Giotinis and Spadarella, decided to also create the Roland A. Petrocchi Memorial Trust Fund.

This will be a perpetual fund, Spadarella said, established to further the aims and ideals in law enforcement "as envisioned and practiced by Chief Petrocchi."

The fund is designed to make special grants and/or scholarships and training in various fields and levels of professional law enforcement.

A seven-member board of trustees has been appointed to administer the fund, Spadarella said.

Trustees include Superior Court Judge Frank Blum, the Chief of Police, a patrolman of Daly City selected by the department, Bernard J. Lycett, Spadarella, Turner and Giotinis.

An advisory committee of 25 persons also will be established.

Donations may be made to the Roland A. Petrocchi Memorial Trust Fund, c/o First National Bank of Daly City, P.O. Box 780, Daly City, 94017.

Nurses Talks Continue

A federal mediator has clamped a news blackout on negotiations to end the 18-day-old strike by some Northern California nurses.

W. J. Usery Jr. of the Federal Mediation Service has imposed the strict ban on comments by either side in the dispute to facilitate his attempts to settle the matter.

He spent more than 12 hours Monday in San Francisco trying to end the strike which began June 7.

More talks were scheduled for today.

Some 4,400 members of the California Nurses Association are striking 41 hospitals from San Jose to Sacramento. A pivotal demand by the CNA is that the nurses be given a voice in staffing decisions in the hospitals.

A spokesman for Usery declined to comment on whether there was progress in the talks. "They've been negotiating for six months so it's not that easy," he said.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar Weinberger, meanwhile, said in a telegram to negotiators that both sides should "put the interest of the patients first and reach a speedy settlement.

"The patients are not a party to the dispute and they should not be involuntarily made to be its pawns, with their lives possibly at stake. The health and welfare of sick patients should transcend all other concerns.

Bargaining was broken off June 15. State conciliators had been directing the talks.

Funds 'Found' for Jefferson District Programs

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees last Wednesday restored most of the music program and retained opportunity classes after administrators said they found the needed money.

Two speech therapy positions also were restored and the hiring of a special projects director was authorized because business manager John Lynch "uncovered" funds while preparing the budget.

Lynch said he found some $75,000 in a building bonds fund dating back to 1967. He combined that sum with revenue anticipated from increased interest on investments and federal funds.

The trustees and residents of the Daly City-Colma area have been discussing the cuts for months at a series of meetings. Most speakers at the meetings had opposed the cuts, which were recommended by Supt. Keith Breon and his staff becuuse of insufficient funds.

There still will be reductions among nurses and librarians, the Board of Trustees decided.

Two of three music teachers will be rehired — they already had been notified they would not receive contracts next year.

The additional money will permit most of the instrumental and vocal program to continue, at least for a year.

The instrumental program will start in the fifth grade, instead of the fourth grade, however, and continue at the intermediate schools.

Three opportunity classes are operating in the district — at Colma Intermediate, Abraham Lincoln K-6 and Ben Franklin Intermediate Schools.

Remaining nurses and librarians will do more traveling between schools.

Board President Mrs. Dorothy Adams said the program financing authorized Wednesday would be for one year only.

She agreed with Trustee David Parker that the district will be short of funds the following year as the enrollment continues to decline (It has taildived from 10,000 to some 8,000 students in the past five years, administrators said).

"I think the name of the game is 'go for broke'," said Mrs. Adams.

Breon said funding from the state — even with an inflation formula worked in — declines as the district's enrollment decreases.

He said the district is losing "a little better than $1,000 a child."

Breon explained that while inflation and other factors might bring the JESD some $30,000 more than the previous year, overhead figures remain larger.

"We have too many schools," Breon said, explaining that most districts of comparable size have three to four fewer complexes.

The JESD has 20 campuses, three of them intermediates.

A twenty-first, Jefferson ("Little Jeff") was closed this month and is being converted into a warehouse.

The district's present warehousing facility, Thornton, was sold to the Jefferson High School District, which has located its special education school there for years.

Pacifica Sign Law Forwarded

The Pacifica Planning Commission has approved a proposed new sign ordinance setting up a Sign Review Board.

The proposed ordinance will go to the City Council for action.

The new board, according to City Planner Jim Miller, would be along the lines of the Hillside Review Board. Plans for major signs will go first to the board, for informal review.

Purpose of the ordinance is to bring order to the city's signs, and avoid the sign clutter that can characterize commercial areas.

The planners rejected this week a request from George Bus to rezone a 72,797 square foot site on the north side of Talbot Avenue from a single family zone with a minimum lot size of 20,000 square feet to R-1, a conventional single family zoning with a 5000 square foot minimum lot size.

According to Miller, Bus' planned to resubdivide three lots into five lots. Miller recommended against the rezoning, because the site varies in steepness from 25 to 45 per cent grade, which under city ordinance would require a lot size of at least 20,000 square feet.

Planners approved a variance for an accessory building in the rear yard of J. T. Woods at 339 Inverness Drive, in the Fairmont area, when they discovered the accessory building was only a six by six doll house. However, Woods must move it away from the fence.

A request for a variance, by Margaretha Meffert, to reduce the required number of parking stalls in a 22-unit apartment project, at 360 Esplanade, from 35 to 22 was continued to July 15, when it was discovered that there was an error in the legal advertisement.

Also continued to July was a request for a variance filed by Gloria R. Magistrado to permit an addition to the rear of her home to within 12 feet of the rear property line — increasing the lot coverage of 44.4 per cent.

Ordinarily, 20 feet of rear setback, and 40 per cent maximum coverage are required.

Withdrawn was a request for a rezoning, filed by George H. Brimhall, for a 19½-acre tract in Rockaway Beach Subdivision No. 1 from single family to agriculture.

Officer Arrested

San Mateo County sheriff's deputies arrested a San Francisco International Airport security officer last Wednesday on charges of selling $60 worth of cocaine to an undercover agent.

Bail was set at $5,000 for Carlos L. Baker, 24, of Daly City, who was booked at the county jail in Redwood City.

Sheriff's Lt. Donald Coslett said Baker had been under surveillance since April and that he made the sale June 4 at a Daly City shopping center.

PROMOTION

Norton AFB, Calif., has announced the promotion of Robert G. Sarasua to staff sergeant in the U. S. Air Force.

Sergeant Sarasua, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sarasua of 92 Canterbury Ave., Daly City, is a communications equipment repairman.

The sergeant, whose wife, Linda, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Santiago of 121 Adrian Ave., South San Francisco, graduated from El Camino High School.

Al Vial Is President

DC Chamber Installs New Officers

The Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce held its installation luncheon for new officers and directors in Daly City Thursday.

Incoming president Al Vial, a PG&E executive, called it an "historic affair" pointing out as the chamber launched its twenty-first year, it was being "reborn."

Vial explained that beginning this year the chamber would be staffed by a full-time manager — Peter J. Markovich — and would relocate its offices as part of a new approach at making the Chamber a more viable instrument in the community.

"The new organizational changes will bring to the city of Daly City a Chamber of Commerce commensurate with a city our size," Vial said. "The fulltime staff will thereby become involved in the many facets of chamber work heretofore not covered because of insufficient manpower."

Two new additions will be the hiring of an assistant manager and a larger operation budget.

Daly City is expected to contribute some $21,000 to the "new" chamber to assist in getting it started.

Aims of the chamber include taking an active role in encouraging commercial and industrial development, civic beautification, new business assistance and mass transit, Vial said.

Vial replaces Frank Spadarella as president of the business organization.

Vial has been manager of the Northern San Mateo County District of PG&E since May 1971. His district extends from the San Francisco limits south to Millbrae and has 260 employees, serving 78,000 customers.

Vial started with the company in 1939 as a clerk in his hometown of Stockton. His civic activities include service as a director on the San Francisco Better Business Bureau, San Francisco and Daly City Chambers of Commerce, Daly City Rotary Club and the San Mateo County Cancer Societv.

He also has been active in United Crusade, Boy Scout and Junior Achievement matters.

Vial and his wife, Jean, live in Menlo Park. The couple has two daughters, Donna and Jane, and a son, John.

Along with installation of Vial by emcee Bernard J. Lycett, were James H. Howe Jr., (first vice president); Charles Turner (second vice president) and Frank Macchia (treasurer).

Howe is a native of San Francisco and attended local schools, graduating from Mission High School. He started working for Pacific Telephone Company in 1948 and is now manager of the Daly City office of the company.

He is a veteran of the U.S. Army, serving two years in the military in 1951. He is active in the Daly City Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Daly City Personnel Commission.

Married, with two grown daughters, Howe lives in Daly City.

Charles K. Turner, president of the First National Bank of Daly City, is a native of California. He joined the bank at its inception 11 years ago.

He was born in Fresno, raised and educated in the Santa Clara Valley and served with the U.S. Navy in the Pacific during the Korean War.

Films Slated at Pacifica Library

The Pacifica Library will present two free adventure films June 27 at 7:30 p.m.

One film will feature "A Family Adventure: Wild River," a color film of a family shooting the rapids in Idaho via kayaks and rubber rafts.

Quotes Emphasize Conflicts of Times

Kissinger: What I will not leave to history is a discussion of my public honor.

Falstaff (King Henry IV, Shakespeare): What is honour? A word. What is that word, honour? Air. A trim reckoning! Who hath it? He that died o'Wednesday. Doth he feel it? No. Doth he hear it? No. . . .

Kissinger: And if it is not cleared up, I will resign.

Randolph Churchill: I resigned and it was accepted, much to my surprise.

Harold Ickes: I resigned to President Roosevelt on many occasions, just about every time I was displeased. I resigned to Harry Truman but once, and never had a chance to resign again.

Falstaff: . . . . It (honor) is insensible then? Yea, to the dead. But it will not live with the living? No. Why? Detraction will not suffer it. Therefore I'll none of it: honour is a mere scutcheon: and so ends my catechism.

King Henry V (Shakespeare): He which hath no stomache to this fight/Let him depart; his passport shall be made.

George Aiken: Why, that's part of the business, being criticized.

Thomas E. Morgan (Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee): His resignation would be tragic.

The Times of London: His resignation would be far more alarming to the world than that of Mr. Nixon.

Kissinger: It seems to me that our national debate has now reached a point . . . where unnamed sources can attack the credibility and honor of senior officials of the government without even being asked to identify themselves.

Virgil: Rumor flies.

Judge Learned Hand: I had rather take my chances that some traitors will escape detection than spread abroad a spirit of general suspicion and distrust, which accepts rumor and gossip in place of undismayed and unintimidated inquiry. . . .

Senator Joseph McCarthy: I have here in my hand a list of . . .

Phineas Fletcher (1582-1650) The coward's weapon, poison.

Rep. Joshua Eilberg: The House Judiciary Committee has proof positive that the Secretary of State ordered wire taps on the members of the staff of the National Security Council. To give out the proof would be improper.

Archibald Cox: Still we read no editorials condemning ex parte accusations, leaks to the press and judgment without true adversary proceedings. Are they now any less unfair than they were twenty years ago?

Alice in Wonderland (Lewis Carroll): I'll be the judge, I'll be the jury, said cunning old Fury./I'll try the whole cause and condemn you to death.

Kissinger: . . . . where public officials are required to submit their most secret documents to public scrutiny . . .

Benjamin Franklin: Three may keep a secret, if two of them are dead.

Michael Drayton (1563-1631): Ill news hath wings, and with the wind doth go./Comfort's a cripple and comes ever slow.

Alls Well That Ends Well (Shakespeare): The nature of bad news infects the teller.

Jefferson: The basis of our government being the opinion of the people, the very first object should be to keep that right; and were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter. . . .

Charles Churchill (1731-1764): The best things carried to excess are wrong.

St. Matthew VII (1): Judge not, that ye be not judged.

The quotations of Randolph Churchill and Harold Ickes are fictitious, the others were actually written or said. The endless dilemmas created by Watergate are illustrated in this article, but few answers are given. In balancing such constitutional rights as fair trial and freedom of the press, firm answers are hard to come by.

(Tom Chergosky Photo)

JESD Schools Being Converted

Work on Thomas Edison School, which is being converted into the Fernando Rivera Intermediate School, was started in Daly City last week.

Jefferson Elementary School District business manager John Lynch said Edison was cleared of its contents Monday and Tuesday so workman could begin Wednesday.

Lynch reported to trustees last Wednesday that the contractor apparently had reached some agreement with carpenters so the project would not be delayed.

In other business Wednesday night, the trustees:

—Appointed Louis Schandler, a veteran Colma School teacher, the new counselor for Fernando Rivera Intermediate School.

—Approved a resolution commending former Personnel Commissioner Jack L. Jones, who resigned.

—Agreed to hire on a per diem basis Keith Breon as superintendent for "10 to 15 days" in July to continue as district negotiator and to complete other business. Breon has resigned, effective June 30. A committee of educators and community leaders has begun screening for a successor.

—Authorized payment of $12.50 each to two students who furnished information regarding vandalism.

—Received information the district will be allocated $774,731 in U.S. Department of Health and Welfare Funds for a special reading and counseling program, also involving three Daly City parochial schools.

Impasse in Joint Meeting

A joint meeting between the Pacifica City Council and the Jefferson Union High School Board ended in an impasse June 18.

Purpose of the meeting was to work out a city bond issue for construction of an enclosed swimming pool at Oceana and illuminated tennis courts at Terra Nova High School.

School trustees expressed themselves "100 per cent" for the two measures. However, they were unable to guarantee their share of the needed funding.

A bond issue to pay for the city's part in construction of the pool lost by a small margin last March. Shortly after the election, the City Council decided to place the bond issue for the pool, adding tennis courts, on the November ballot. At the time of the election, the school board had set aside $600,000 as its part of the project.

Since then, JUHSD ran into a financial problem which threatens its nest-egg. Bids were received for a Terra Nova classroom addition that came to $200,000 above what the district can afford, according to Asst. Supt. Floyd Gonella. The low bid from Barnhart Construction Co., of Santa Clara, came in at $1,954,444. The trustees may need the swimming pool money for the classroom addition — unless they can work out some other course of action.

They told the councilmen June 18 they will hold several meetings, starting this week, to determine how to handle the problem. They promised to pledge their share of the cost of the pool and tennis courts, if they can work out the classroom problem.

Because of an estimated price increase of 10 per cent, and the addition of the pools, the council plans tentatively to place the bond issue on the city ballot this November at $550,000 instead of $400,000, according to City Manager Dave Thompson.

Message from your Mayor:

Our City's greatest wealth is not to be found in material things but rather in the individuals that make up our community. Your City Council, within available resources, has tried to provide an environment that allows people and especially the young to develop to the maximum. New facilities and constant attempts to improve programs are the indications that progress is being made in the area of environmental development.

I would like to take this opportunity to invite you to join the community in acknowledging another milestone in environmental development. On June 29, 1974 at 11:00 a.m., Gellert Park will be officially dedicated. Please join us on that day.

On behalf of the Park and Recreation Commission, I encourage the people of Daly City to accept the Mayor's invitation to join their friends and neighbors at the Dedication of Gellert Park on June 29th. A gala day of fun and festivities is planned for all.

The Laguna Salada School District board Thursday night gave the Pacifica Youth Service Bureau 90 days to revive its defunct Citizens Advisory Committee.

Mark Savage, director of the YSB, appeared at the meeting for a routine request to renew its joint powers agreement to help finance the YSB.

The YSB is financed by the Laguna Salada School District, the Jefferson High School District, the City of Pacifica, San Mateo County and San Mateo County Probation Department. It counsels youths with problems, and helps obtain jobs for youths in Pacifica.

Trustee Dale W. Buettgenback asked Savage about the status of the Citizens Advisory Committee.

"It hasn't met for five months," Savage said. "It could be considered virtually defunct."

Buettgenback objected to the YSB Board including two representatives of the Advisory Committee, since it is defunct.

Savage replied that he hoped to regenerate the Advisory Committee. He cited some half-dozen adult volunteers in the YSB, as well as the possibility of obtaining the aid of student leaders at the two local high schools, to serve on the committee.

Board Chairman Wilbur Frye said that with the wide variety of people involved in youth, it was regretable that the YSB Board should include a defunct organization.

He wanted to delay approving the joint powers agreement, but Savage convinced him that this would cripple the operation of YSB. The School Board finally approved the agreement, but gave Savage until Sept. 30 to accomplish his aim.

SSF Council Adopts Proposed Budget

The South San Francisco City Council unanimously adopted the proposed $10,685,974 budget for 1974-75 last Wednesday.

And in a related move to increase revenue, the council also decided to halt the long standing tradition of repairing the sidewalks and driveways of property owners at the city's expense.

The approved budget, which is $505,025 higher than last year, left intact all the proposed expenditures. These included increases from the 1973-74 budget in the major city departments such as Public Services (increased by $124,989), Police ($319,681), Fire ($212,558), Park and Recreation ($141,852), and Library ($19,468).

When City Manager Edward Alario sent the budget to the council Tuesday night, he requested consideration of various proposals to generate additional revenue and thereby help balance the budget.

These include a nine cent city tax hike, an increase in the business license ordinance, and the controversial turn around in sidewalk repairs.

The council agreed by a 3-2 vote to accept the recommendation to require property owners to pay for the repair of their own sidewalks and driveways.

PRIOR TO THE VOTE, South San Francisco property owners had enjoyed a unique policy where the city paid these costs. South San Francisco was the only city in San Mateo County that did not charge the property owner for such repairs. Mayor Terry J. Mirri, who opposed the resolution along with Councilman Leo Padreddii, argued unsuccessfully that many people, particularly senior citizens, are hardly meeting the costs of their homes now and would be severely affected by the change.

But Councilman Frank Mammini, in supporting the resolution, complained that it was costing the city too much money to fix the sidewalks, "so why should we do it." Both Councilmen Warren Steinkamp and Richard Battaglia agreed.

THE PROPOSED tax increase most likely will be passed by the council, according to Alario's assistant, Michael Wilson. The increase would boost the tax rate from 91 cents to $1 per $100 assessed valuation, and would raise approximately $240,000.

An increase in the business license ordinance, which the council will be acting on in 60 to 90 days, would raise about $250,000 in revenues.

The council also decided against including para-medics in the operating budget because of insufficient available funds, but instead adopted a resolution that authorized the application of a grant for the service from the San Francisco Foundation.

Hal Hendrickson, retired Naval Officer of 633 Keoncrest Drive, South San Francisco, was honored recently at a retirement party at Alta Loma School Library where he has been a long term classified employee.

Wallace Odd, Industrial Arts instructor, was the chairman of the staff of that school. The district was represented by South San Francisco Unified School District Supt. Dr. Paul Nielsen. Hal was presented with several fruit trees for his ranch in Sonoma where he will retire this month. Mrs. Hendrickson, also present, was given a Miltonia orchid plant.

Hal, also past president of the "Tall Twosomes," a former branch of the Golden Gate Tip Toppers, also was honored at a dinner party at Nick's Rockaway where the William Greggans of South San Francisco and the Ken Kunze's of San Mateo were the hosts. Twenty-five over six footers attended.

$1 Million Area Construction Program by PT&T

Pacific Telephone will spend nearly $1 million on construction projects in South San Francisco, San Bruno and Pacifica in 1974, according to Nick Roden, PT&T manager.

He said his company will spend $344,000 in South San Francisco of which $130,000 will go for installation of underground cable from San Bruno to the new South San Francisco Industrial Park.

Roden said $103,000 will be spent to replace 10,000 feet of cable on Linden Avenue and $34,000 will be spent on the Spruce Avenue residential area to reinforce underground cable. Another $10,000 will be spent for a 900-pair cable to serve the new Kaiser Hospital and surrounding area.

PT&T will spend $342,000 in San Bruno, $229,000 of the total on new central office equipment at 1101 San Mateo Avenue to meet growth in telephone demand in the community. In an underground cable reinforcement project, PT&T will invest $46,400 by placing cable to provide for growth in the Bayhill Development area.

Another $38,500 will go toward removing overhead lines and poles on a portion of San Bruno Avenue and replacing them with underground facilities. At San Mateo and San Antonio Avenues, PT&T will place an additional 5800 feet of cable to provide for additional growth at a cost of $28,000.

Roden said his company will also spend $272,500 in Pacifica, about $150,000 of that total for central office equipment at 325 Reina del Mar to meet growth in community calling needs, another $88,000 will go toward cable reinforcement at Crespi and Peralta Avenues. Roden said that 6000 feet of cable will be added on Sharp Park Road near Skyline College, at a cost of $34,000, to provide for additional service demands.

On the Peninsula and in Southern Alameda County, major projects for new central office equipment and telephone buildings, cable and conduit will total about $15 million, according to PT&T's Peninsula Area General Manager, Charles S. Woodruff.

He stated that Pacific Telephone expects to spend about $462 million on construction this year to improve and expand service for its customers from the Tehachapis to the Oregon border and from the Sierra to the Pacific seashore.

The record outlay is a significant portion of the company's $977 million statewide construction program, the largest in PT&T's history.

"All of the construction dollars allocated in 1974 will be for new buildings and related equipment to meet the current and projected demands for good, reliable telephone service as well as for new sophisticated equipment," Woodruff said.

In Pacific Telephone's Northern California Region, more than three-quarters of the construction funds will be spent for land and buildings, central office equipment and cable, conduit and tele-communications systems to accommodate growth and modernization for both residential and business customers.

In addition to the $313 million for land, buildings, central office equipment and cable, $136 million will be spent for new telephone sets, switches and other equipment, and $13 million will be earmarked for motor vehicles, tools, office equipment and furniture.

Kaiser Dedicates Medical Center

South San Francisco's Kaiser Hospital held an open house for public viewing last weekend.

Dedication ceremonies marking the opening of the new Kaiser/Permanente Medical Center, took place Thursday. Local government officials, labor representatives, leaders of the medical community, and other invited dignitaries attended the preview program.

Scheduled activities for the open house included continuous tours of the hospital, the viewing of an audiovisual program especially produced to commemorate the hospital's opening, educational displays, and refreshments.

The new 95-bed hospital, which is scheduled to be opened for patient care sometime in early July, includes three surgical suites; a fully equipped emergency department to provide emergency services to the community on a 24-hour basis; two Sauri-Center rooms for outpatient minor surgeries; an eight-bed Intensive Care/Coronary Care unit; three x-ray rooms; and a large clinical laboratory. Many of these areas were on display during the public open house.

Nearly all patient rooms in the $6.6 million facility are private, and most have garden court views. All adult patient rooms have bedside convenience panels with built-in telephone, intercom, nurse call buttons, and electronic controls for color television. In addition, each adult room has a private bathroom, complete with shower.

This facility is the newest of the 11 Kaiser Foundation Hospitals in Northern California. As a non-profit, community hospital, its services are available to every patient in the area whose personal doctor applies and qualifies for staff privileges. The hospital is self-supporting and does not rely on public subscriptions.

Drug Raids Continue

Three persons were arrested in Daly City Thursday in a continuing crackdown on what officials call "illicit narcotics activities" in that city.

A combined Federal Narcotics agency, Daly City police investigation resulted in information that led to the arrest of the three men, according to acting Daly City police chief David Hansen.

Hansen said that shortly after 6 p.m. Thursday, federal agency, accompanying detective John Kirby, arrested John Louis Brandt, 27, of 2118 Pullman St., Belmont; James Douglas Brandt (no relation), 28, of 3433 Jolie Court, Sacramento; and Ken Allison, 21, of 313 Oriente St., Daly City, at the Oriente Street address following an extensive investigation.

The trio was charged with violation of the Federal Code concerning distribution of a controlled substance, namely, sale of cocaine.

Recovered by agents was some $10,000 worth of cocaine, Hansen said.

The arrests bring to 19 the number of arrests of juveniles and adults allegedly connected with drug activities in Daly City in the past two weeks, Hansen said.

In another North County case, San Bruno police arrested two young men and their teenage companions early Friday morning on suspicion of burglary at an apartment at 716 Masson Ave.

According to police, Sgt. Rich Reed and Officer Larry Clifford responded to a disturbance call at 701 Mills Ave., and a prowler call on Masson Avenue.

Sgt. Reed in checking the Masson Avenue area became aware that an apartment had just been burglarized. Police said the door was open and the apartment ransacked.

An immediate search of the area, according to police, resulted in the arrest of John V. Kunz, 20, of 701 Mills Ave., Apt. 6, and Albert E. Bertocchi, 24, of 9110 Hacienda Way, Millbrae, and two teenage companions with San Bruno addresses.

Police said they recovered in excess of $1,000 in property that they found scattered around the immediate area, apparently dropped quickly when a police dragnet began, officers said.

The juveniles were transferred to the Hillcrest Detention Center, and the other two had bail set at $5,000 for appearance in Northern Judicial Court at 9 a.m. July 8, police said.

Assault Charged

Daly City police arrested a San Francisco woman and charged her with assault with a deadly weapon after she allegedly struck another woman on the head with a tire iron during a fight police described as "a domestic misunderstanding" Saturday night.

Arrested was Onnie Willform, 37, of San Francisco.

The alleged victim, Mildred Thomas, of 212 McDonald St., Daly City, suffered head injuries in the altercation with Willform, police said. She was treated at Mary's Help Hospital and released following the 9:13 p.m. fracas.

Police said apparently Mrs. Thomas and Miss Willform had the falling out over Mrs. Thomas' husband. The matter is still under investigation, a police spokesman said.

Food Supply

Will there be enough food?

Article after article these days says that even now there is not enough food to feed the world's population and what is more mankind is scurrying towards world-wide hunger.

Here are a few sobering facts. World grain reserves have fallen to their lowest level in two decades, presently equaling only about 27 days supply.

Of food in general, the world has but 30 days supply which is the lowest since records were first kept.

Most of the accessible and relatively rich soil of the world is already being farmed and much of the remaining tillable land is remote from where food is needed.

Furthermore, the places where the food is most needed are remote from the lands where the most food is produced.

As a result, the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization estimates that between 10 and 15 per cent of the world's population — between 400 million and 600 million — are hungry.

These facts and others have been assembled in a New Republic article (April 6, 1974) by Robert W. Dietsch. In it he reports that as the crisis deepens, China, India, Pakistan and Indonesia, which account for more than half the worlds population, find little opportunity to bring more land into cultivation. Land is so scarce in Japan that the central government must approve its use for anything, such as golf courses, that take the land from food production.

AS PEOPLE in poor countries starve, those who live in affluent and industrialized nations are consuming more meat. This worsens the situation, because it takes grain that might be consumed by humans to feed the animals that become meat.

America's role in the food crisis is becoming more precarious every day. The United States, writes Roger Reville in the June 14th issue of "Science," is the leading supplier of food exports. But much of America's food is sold to "rich" countries at prices the poor ones cannot afford, and this in an era when food aid shipments are being severely reduced.

Reville writes that food supplies can be increased by three lines of action: "for the short term, a world food bank; for the longer term, a modernization of agriculture in the poor countries; and finally a sharp intensification of agricultural and food research."

Reville writes that the United Staes must remain the breadbasket of the world, and to do so she must lead her agricultural researchers to use their methods and their insights to make possible a vast increase in food and fiber production throughout the world.

Into the picture, however, comes another element. As shown by their article in "Science" for April 19, 1974, John S. Steinhart and Carol E. Steinhart warn that the production of food in the United States and other "breadbasket" countries depends upon the production of energy for the processing of food. Mr. and Ms. Steinhart find that the production of energy means petroleum which is already in short supply throughout the world.

THE STEINHARTS find if all nations were led to produce food as it is produced in the United States, it would take 80 per cent of the world's annual amount of energy just to obtain enough food.

Meanwhile millions are hungry, and mankind is hurtling towards worldwide starvation. This means the time has come for the United States to move faster and surer in leading the world away from famine — even if it requires readjustments in diet, eating habits and national pride.

BBB Says Beware of Some Trade Schools

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor of BBB Barometer

Vocational education is a $2.5 billion annual business in the United States due in part to the use of high pressure salesmen, false advertising and lack of government regulation.

Private correspondence and resident trade schools, playing upon the hopes of young people who wish to better themselves through a vocational education, purport to teach everything from photography to truck driving. Salesmen, working on a commission basis, competing for a prize or cash bonus, sell virtually worthless courses costing from a few hundred dollars to several thousands of dollars.

The Federal Government spends millions of dollars underwriting short, career-oriented courses but falls down on regulating the quality of education offered by vocational and correspondence schools.

The principal victims duped and swindled are young veterans with GI benefits and underprivileged youths, usually from minority groups in large cities.

While the schools receive their money in full from the government more than two-thirds of the students fail to complete their courses. A federal report shows that three out of four veterans whose federal benefits paid for their correspondence courses became dropouts; 94 percent of the veterans did not receive employment from courses.

Some correspondence and residence vocation schools use the insured loan program as a selling tool to solicit students. Too often the only recourse a student has when he finds his training to be deficient and the promised job nowhere in sight, is to default on his loan. In the meantime, the school has been already paid off by the Federal government.

Bear in mind that schools claiming to offer courses leading specifically to federal employment are not connected in any way with the U.S. Civil Service Commission and are not recognized or approved of by the Civil Service Commission.

View with suspicion schools that advertise with such headlines as "Help Wanted", "Men and Women Urgently Needed"; or which describe as "glamorous" the jobs they advertise.

DC Youth Wins Dance Award

The Daly City Recreation Department announced last week that Kathy DeBarros has been selected to receive the 1974 Summer Dance Awards presented by the Civic Ballet Board of Directors.

Miss De Barros, 14, will attend Serramonte High School in the fall. Kathy has been a participant in the Daly City Recreation Department ballet instructional program, which is under the instruction of Diane Roberts, for five years. As a recipient of the award, she will attend the well-known San Francisco Ballet School Summer Session.

Other members of the Civic Ballet Company who attended the auditions included: Annamarie Brizuela, Helga Garcia, Pam Ruggiero, Natalie Seitz, Nannette Vides, Michelle Frenkel, Karen and Ellen Sakkestad, Kathy Torres, Marie Abruzzo, Lisa Bianchini, and Gisella Keutsch.

Funds for the Annual Summer Dance Award are provided by the Winter Ballet and other fund-raising events sponsored by the Civic Ballet Board of Directors, and Mrs. Barbara Brown is the current president of the board.

'Reading Version' of 'Animal Farm' to Open

The Pacifica Spindrift Players will open a "reading" version of George Orwell's novel "Animal Farm" July 5, at Oddstad Park Center, 1000 block of Crespi Drive, Pacifica.

"Animal Farm" will be presented by a cast of eight "readers", each of whom has one or more principal roles with which he or she is identified, and one or more minor roles. In addition, each reader from time to time serves as a narrator, and thus aids the principal narrators in progressing the story.

Reader's theater allows the members of the audience to sit back and enjoy the play on their own terms, in their own minds eye. Scenery and costumes as such are not used: action and physical movement is merely suggested and as such allows the audience to detect changes in character relationships and motives.

Music and lighting are also used to enhance and create certain moods and time periods.

Curtain for "Animal Farm" will be at 8:30 p.m. and additional performances will be held on July 6, 12, 13, 19 and 20. Tickets will be available at the door.

'Earnest' to Open in DC

The Southgate Theater Company will open its first season in Daly City withOscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," June 28.

The group then will go on to perform every Friday and Sunday night through August at the United Methodist Church, 1474 Southgate Ave., Daly City.

The Southgate Theater Company is a troupe of local actors and actresses organizing for the first time this summer to bring live theater to the North County community, emphasizing low-cost entertainment.

The founder and general director of the group is Gordon Farrell, now a Pacifica resident but originally from Colma. This is Farrell's first summer directing theater in the area, having spent his summers since 1971 in New York directing a theater program for children with heart disease.

Working with him as co-director of "The Importance of Being Earnest" is San Bruno resident Lynda West, who has just completed her theater training with the American Conservatory Theater in San Francisco.

Other local residents participating include Jeff Wilbur and Mike Nicholson, of Daly City, who will play the male lead roles in "Earnest"; leading actress is Donna Wells of Pacifica, and the group's technical director is Diane Pacheco of Millbrae.

After opening "Earnest," the group will go into rehearsal for James Goldman's "The Lion in Winter," and "Animal Farm," from the novel by George Orwell, which will open in July and August. Curtain will be at 8:15 on Fridays and at 7:30 on Sundays. A donation of $1.75 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12 will be required at the door.

For details call these numbers evenings only: 359-3871 or 755-2121.

GRADUATED

Navy Seaman Recruit David H. Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Fletcher of 474 Orentie St., Daly City, has graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

He will now report to a formal school for specialty training or a ship to shore station for on-the-job training.

Lorraine Heath

There definitely will be an Arts and Crafts Fair today and tomorrow. Just where the fair will be held is, at this writing, still a mystery!

The fair is being sponsored by the Foremost-McKesson Task force for Friends Outside and Foremost-McKesson employees have rallied about the project and contributed impressive stocks of numerous types of "artsy-craftsy" things.

The problem facing the task force is locating a large enough site in a suitable locale to display their wares. The end of last week such a spot was still elluding the force, but volunteers were undaunted in their determination that "the show must go on". Today, if you want to do a bit of shopping in a craft boutique call the Friends Outside office, 661-6900, and they'll tell you where the task force has set up shop.

While you have the Friends Outside office on the phone you might be interested in arranging for someone to pick up unneeded furnitute, clothing or bric-a-brac.

The executive director of Friends Outside, Mrs. Louise Enberg of South San Francisco, reports that 16 new families applied to that group this past month and they had a variety of special needs.

Bunk beds, sofas, chairs, bedding, infant furniture and clothing for everyone 6 days to 60 years are needed. Funds for family summer camp and food stuffs are in short supply and would be gratefully accepted by the staff at the Friends Outside office. So, before you dial to find out where they have the fair, check to see if you have something you can contribute to the project's ongoing program. A full time secretary will answer questions and arrange for pick ups.

LOTS OF GOOD music at the Aloha Concert held this past week at Serramonte High School.

The Concert band and the Jazz band, all Hawaii bound for the Hawaiian Festival of Music, said "thank you" to the community for the financial or moral support that made the trek across the Pacific possible for more than 50 young people.

Jan Gaynor is the director of the school's music department and one of the leading motivators in the campaign to assure this contingent of outstanding high school musicians an opportunity to perform in the "by invitation only" festival on the islands.

DON'T FORGET Christmas Boutique workers, it is business as usual during the summer!

Creative souls gather every Thursday at 10 a.m. in the solarium of Mary's Help Hospital to make gift items for sale prior to the holidays. New volunteers are always welcomed with open arms — no special skills required, only a willing spirit.

A NOTE FROM former Westlake residents, Larry and Clare Rogers, brings news that they are touring the northwest, seeing the sights at Expo 74 and wandering about the Idaho and Montana country side.

MRS. JAY GUERRERO, director of the vacation church school at Lakeside Presbyterian Church in San Francisco, reports that there will be an open house and children's program tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the church, Nineteenth avenue at Eucalyptus drive.

The public, as well as family and friends of students, is invited to attend the exhibit of children's art work and the special program which will be presented by the entire "student body".

North peninsula families actively involved in the two week sessions include the Guerreros, Linda and Ronnie, Mrs. Janet Olson and Carl, Dean and Diane; the Waldvogels, Jean, Kristine and Scott; and Mrs. Shirley Blair, Kristen and Karen. Mrs. John Madrosen of Westlake was one of the pre-session organizers of the school which is held annually.

TAMMY HARVEY, Steve Avila and Don Clawson, all students at Westmoor High School, volunteered to assist with the special Olympics for Handicapped which were held here recently.

The students, working with the members of Girl Scout Troop 2630, worked as aides in the supervising of the events in the special 'Olympics".

THE DALY CITY Rotary Club will begin selling Fireworks on Friday afternoon, according to booth chairman Ralph Heath.

The Rotarians will set up shop on John Daly Boulevard, directly across from the Westlake Shopping Center. The booth will be open daily through July 4.

Homeowners Set Meet

Regular meeting of the Southwood Concerned Residents in South San Francisco will be held July 2 at 7 p.m. at the auditorium of the Orange Avenue Library.

Subject for discussion is the proposed shopping center at El Camino Real, Westborough Blvd. and West Orange Avenue.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Let's consider cooking vegetables today. This first recipe comes from my good friend Jane Ward who lives in Cincinnati, Ohio. Jane is a terrific cook and very generous in sharing her recipes. Ratatouille is a delightful combination of vegetables and seasonings that add texture, color and flavor to any meal.

RATATOUILLE

- 4 Tablespoons olive oil
- 2 large onions, sliced in rings
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 medium eggplant, unpeeled, cut into ½-inch cubes
- 6 medium zucchini, unpeeled, thinly sliced
- 2 green peppers, seeded and sliced into strips
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon basil
- 2 teaspoons oregano
- 4 large tomatoes, cut in small wedges
- Fresh ground pepper
- Parmesan cheese (optional)

Heat the four tablespoons oil in large skillet. Saute the two sliced onions and two cloves minced garlic until tender. Cut the unpeeled eggplant into cubes and add to garlic and onion. Layer the six sliced zucchini and then the two green peppers cut into strips. Combine the teaspoon salt, one teaspoon basil and two teaspoons oregano and sprinkle over vegetables. Heat to a boil, reduce heat and simmer 20 to 30 minutes. Add the four tomatoes cut in wedges and heat long for tomatoes to heat through. Sprinkle with pepper and Parmesan cheese if desired. Serves 8 generously.

If I suggested cooking peas and carrots wouldn't you think of cooking the peas and carrots separately and then combining them with a bit of butter, salt and pepper? Well here's another way to serve them that is quite tasty and very very pretty. The carrots are mashed then baked in a mold and the peas with onions are served in the center.

CARROT RING WITH PEAS AND ONIONS

- 4 cups mashed cooked carrots (about 3 pounds)
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup light cream
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- Dash ground cloves
- 2 packages frozen onions and peas

(Bake 350-degree oven for one hour)

Cook the three pounds of carrots in salted water until tender. Mash. Combine the carrots, two well beaten eggs, one teaspoon salt, fourth cup light cream, fourth teaspoon nutmeg and dash cloves. Generously butter a 5 cup ring mold. Spoon the carrots into mold and pack down well. Bake in 350-degree oven about one hour or until set.

Cook the peas and onions as directed on package, drain and butter. Salt and pepper to taste.

Unmold carrot ring on large heated plate. Fill center with peas and onions. Serves 8.

By combining beets with pineapple and black raspberry gelatin you can serve your family an attractive and delicious salad.

BEET SALAD

- 1 can Julienne beets, No. 303 can
- 1 can crushed pineapple No. 2 can
- 3 Tablespoons lemon juice
- ¼ cup water
- ¼ cup vinegar
- 1 Tablespoon sugar
- 1 package black raspberry gelatin, small size

Drain the juice from the beets and pineapple and heat with the fourth cup each water and vinegar, lemon juice and one tablespoon sugar. Dissolve the gelatin in the hot liquid and refrigerate until it gets syrupy. Stir in the drained beets and pineapple, pour into one quart mold and chill.

YWCA Elects New Officers

San Mateo County Y.W.C.A. recently held a meeting of the Board of Directors at the San Bruno Center to elect new board officers for the next year.

Carol Newkirk, the San Francisco executive director, and June Quan, member of the San Francisco Board, were the honored guests.

The newly elected officers are Esther Talavaras of South San Francisco, chairperson of San Bruno; Gloria Wolgamott of Daly City, vice chairperson; Nancy Shetterly of San Bruno, secretary; Barbara Broadbent of South San Francisco, treasurer; June Carroll of San Bruno, public relations.

Esther Talavaras, a long time member and volunteer for the Y.W.C.A. has handled many programs and projects for the association. The Y.W.C.A. feels very confident with Esther due to her previous experience.

The other board members are Jan Brzoska, Jenny Leo and Jerry Matlock.

Buri Buri Park Is Growing

South San Francisco's Buri Buri Park will grow by 1.7 acres and acquire a creek, under terms of a settlement of a condemnation suit by San Mateo County.

The county had filed suit in 1970, against the city and a private landowner. Marino R. Donati, for a half-acre site for extension of Westborough Boulevard.

Under terms of the agreement, approved by the City Council June 17, the city will receive a 1.7-acre site next to Buri Buri Park, through which runs the 12-mile creek.

Councilman Warren Steinkamp announced that he had been campaigning for the park's extension and was happy to introduce the motion.

Gunman Holds Up Farrell's

A cool gunman held up Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor in Daly City Sunday morning and successfully escaped after scooping up "several thousand dollars," police reported Monday.

The holdup occurred about 9 a.m. but was not reported until almost two hours later, according to police.

Police said the manager, who was not identified, had been bound and gagged with adhesive tape and an electrical cord after opening the shop's safe.

"It took him about two hours to free himself," according to acting-chief David Hansen.

The gunman tapped on the window of Farrell's shortly after the manager entered to prepare for the day's operations, police said.

Gesturing he wanted to talk with the manager, the door was opened and the manager was confronted with a gun and a threat that he would be shot unless the safe was opened, police said.

Serramonte's Play to Be Televised

On the morning June 14, the cast of "Man of La Mancha" packed together old costumes, stage make-up and props into cars and went to the KGO-ABC Television Studios in San Francisco.

Previously, arrangements were made to video tape and record selections of Serramonte High School's 1974 Spring play on television.

Television viewers will have a chance to see six scenes from Serramonte's hit play "Man of La Mancha" which is scheduled July 7 at 2:30 p.m. on Channel 7. (Due to the possible changes in scheduling, consult your local T.V. guide for date and time of showing).

Serramonte's Drama Department was honored to have a chance to present their talents for the television audience.

Polynesian Dance Class Is Planned

This summer, Jerry "Kelelani" Matlock, who has been instructing Polynesian Dance Classes for the Y.W.C.A. for over 20 years, is expanding her teaching schedule to reach many cities in San Mateo County.

She will begin classes July 8, at the War Memorial Building in Daly City at 7 p.m. On Tuesday afternoons, beginning July 9, she will teach dancing lessons to children from 3:30 p.m.-4:30 p.m. and for adults from 7:30 p.m.-8:30 p.m. in South San Francisco.

Wednesday will take her to San Bruno where she is starting a new class, 2-3 p.m. beginning July 10. Jerry will also have a class in Pacifica Mondays at 2 p.m. at the Sharp Park Library Community Center.

All classes are for seven weeks, and the student learns Ancient and Modern Hawaiian, Tahitian, Samoan, and Moari dances along with the use of implements.

Many of Jerry's former students have gone professional over the years and her students often are called upon to perform at various occasions around the Bay Area. Recently, performances in Tanforan and Serramonte Shopping Center drew large crowds.

Jerry has instructed dancers between the ages of four and 65. The students dance to the music of Hawaiian bands at the annual Polynesian shows and luas. Many of Jerry's routines are from outstanding teachers in Honolulu. She has danced professionally in the past. She is a choreographer and programmer and she arranges shows with bands for luas.

Jerry has toured the South Pacific twice, and goes to Honolulu every year to study.

For details contact the Y.W.C.A. at 560 El Camino Real, San Bruno.

Gem Show At County Fairground

The Gem and Mineral Society of San Mateo County which is celebrating its silver anniversary will host the 35th anniversary Show and Convention of the California Federation of Mineralogical Societies at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds in San Mateo June 28, 29 and 30.

San Bruno residents who are active in the host society, include Teiko Lewis and John and Jane Dabney. John is a past president and assistant chairman in charge of Dealers for the Show.

Over 200 award winning exhibits of lapidary, jewelry, carvings and faceted gems will cover all phases of the earth sciences. Demonstrations and lectures by internationally recognized experts in their fields will help provide a program of entertainment and educational interest for the entire family.

The "Fiesta of Gems and Minerals" will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Big Basin Field Trip Scheduled

The South San Francisco Parks and Recreation Department will sponsor a field trip to Big Basin Redwoods s State Park in the Santa Cruz Mountains today to mark the beginning of the summer program.

Boys and girls 7 to 12 years old are welcome to participate.

There will be two pickup points for the bus: Westborough Park at 9:30 a.m. and Orange Park at 9:45 a.m. A fee will be charged to cover transportation.

A bag lunch should accompany each child though there are facilities to buy food.

Guard Dogs: A Reliable Crime Deterrent

By RO LOGRIPPO

When the English novelist Ian Hay said, "You cannot teach an old dog new tricks," he probably never thought his words would have to be retracted.

Perhaps Hay, who died in 1952, first should have met Rudy Christians, the Brisbane man who owns Canine Protection Services, a subsidiary of Dog Watch Inc.

"You can teach an old dog new tricks," Christians insists. "It just takes more time. An older dog may not do tricks as well as a younger one, but he'll do them just the same."

Christians has had success not only training "hopeless" pooches but also teaching pedigrees and peons, the lowly mutts, how to protect their masters and become command-attack animals. Of the 76 German Shepherds and Doberman Pinschers kept at the CPS kennels in Brisbane, several are command-attack trained and the remainder are compound dogs who have learned to work by themselves to guard a fenced in area or building.

Christians first became interested in guard dogs through his father, who had trained canines in his native Germany. His dad gave him a pet Doberman, and when that animal was killed Rudy kept one of her pups, Tammy, as a pet. Although the dog is half poodle and only weights 18 pounds, he has trained her to be command attack.

The idea of starting CPS developed when Christians was working as a private investigator for a protection service which had tried to use a few watch dogs unsuccessfully until Rudy took over the operation. The enterprising young man went on his own two-and-a - half years ago when he decided a need existed for a service that solely provided protection by canines, who could guard warehouses or office buildings in off-hours, as a deterrent to crime against property.

Christians doesn't dispute the fact that men can do the same job as guard dogs, but he maintains that the latter are "more reliable than people" and less expensive to employ. (A client who uses a CPS dog every day for a month, will be charged a total of 50 cents an hour or approximately $300 a month. For one dollar an hour, CPS will provide a dog who has been trained to work with the guard of your choice.)

Christians also alleges that a dog can cover a larger territory more effectively than a man, and that a dog's keen sense of smell enables him to do a better job than a human. "A dog," he says, "is even on duty when he sleeps. And he's willing to sacrifice his life for you. What more could you ask?"

Christians estimates the average cost to keep one of his dogs per month is $75. This includes feeding each animal dry dog food daily, and cottage cheese and raw breast of lamb once a week. He recommends that diet for any dog, and further suggests skin conditioning if the animal has an undercoat.

RUDY CHRISTIANS of Brisbane, who owns the Canine Protection Service, pets one of the German Shepherds the security dog service uses. Christians, who has the word Dogman on his license plates, maintains 76 canines at his kennel in Brisbane for use as guard dogs. (Mike Spinelli Photo)

Like any reputable guard dog service, CPS adheres to the Government Health Dog Act of 1969. That law requires such businesses to maintain a 24-hour emergency number in case of fire or other hazards, to register all dogs with police and fire departments, to tag all animals, and to post warning signs that state an area is patrolled by sentry dogs.

Moreover, the law also demands that guard dogs be checked once every 12 hours. Christians, however, checks his dogs three and four times in a given period to be on the safe side.

To help him cover the territory from San Francisco to San Jose and Richmond to the Oakland Airport, Christians employs 15 workers including trainers, run men, kennelmen and agitators. The latter's job is to tease an animal and build up his confidence so that he can perform as a guard or command-attack dog. The CPS owner emphasizes the fact that his dogs are never incited by inflicting physical pain but solely by teasing tactics like pinching in the nose. He further notes that his command-attack dogs are trained to go for an intruder's arm rather than any vital area.

Since its inception, CPS has expanded its services to include dog and handler teams. If requested, it can even provide dogs that are capable of narcotics and bomb detection. In addition, the agency has begun breeding canines, and offering instruction for those interested in teaching their dogs basic tricks like sitting and heeling. Although he promises to accept students in his classes with older dogs, Christians encourages people to sign up who have young dogs ranging in age from four months old and up.

"When dogs are only a few months old or up to two years old, they are best suited to training," he explains.

Christians advises dog owners to take classes from professionals rather than try to teach their pet "by the book" because he believes the latter method does not take into consideration the fact that each dog has its own personality. Students who enroll in his hour-long classes take 10 bi-weekly sessions for a total cost of $40. (The fee soars to $1100 for training a dog to be command-attack since that type of instruction involves leaving an animal with CPS for a few months of continual training.)

With regard to animal training of any kind, Christians feels it is wrong to give a pet food for obeying a command. "It isn't good to reward an animal with food when you're training it," he says explaining that "dogs in particular like to please, and will do what you want for praise alone. If you start feeding a dog every time he does something, you turn him into a begger who will only perform for food."

What are Christians' thoughts on scolding a dog?

"Harsh words are enough," he says. "There's never a need to hit or hurt an animal to let him know he did something wrong. Remember," he adds, "you want to hurt a dog mentally, not physically."

Christians also has some advice for prospective dog owners. "People who want house pets should think about buying small dogs because they aren't as expensive to purchase or care for as large dogs," he says.

It isn't necessary to seek a breeder when looking for a pet, he adds, because the Humane Society can generally provide any type of pet for a reasonable fee.

Christians is giving pointers on pet training, explaining his service and selling a variety of pups now through Sunday at the Leisure Fair being staged at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds. His next series of pet training classes will start shortly after the Fair closes. Those interested in enrolling may sign up at the fair or contact him at the CPS South San Francisco office which is located at 1205 Grandview Drive.

Pacifica Seeks Funds For Senior Center

Pacifica City Council June 18, approved a $10,000 grant application to set up a Senior Citizens Center for Pacifica.

The program would include two new part-time employes, who would expand the city's current information and referral program for the aged to nearly a full-time program.

It also would include an outreach program, an escort service and a recreation program, according to Recreation Supervisor Karen Norton.

The center probably would be operated out of the Oddstad Park Recreation Center.

Services to be conducted for the aged would include a transportation service, and a program to take aged persons to various places they need to go, such as the doctor. The program would tie in with various services already being performed by various agencies and volunteer services.

National Organization for Women

A Channel for Activism

By MICHELLE CARTER

If ever there was a prime candidate for social activism, it would be Shelley Fernandez, the vice principal at George Washington School in Daly City, who recently was elected to the board of directors of the National Organization for Women.

Ms. Fernandez is a minority person three times over. Her ethnic background is Jewish and Chicano — and she is a woman. Until two years ago when she joined the San Francisco chapter of NOW, her activism concerned her ethnic oppression. She had been president of the largest Chicano organization in the country, Hermanos Latinos, and was founder of the Guadalupe Health Center where she "staged pray-ins against Mary's Help Hospital."

She's also involved herself in the Bay Area Council for Soviet Jewry and has expressed her disappointment with President Nixon's position of not interfering with the internal affairs of the USSR.

So no one who knew Shelley Fernandez was surprised when she sought a leadership position in NOW. "I'm interested in being in on the decision-making of any group I belong to — especially one that is so vital to the country as NOW is."

Participation in the decision-making was something often denied to her in her role as "token minority person" that she has played so often in the North San Mateo County area.

"I became a token on lots of boards in the area — both a token Chicano and a token woman. Women are consistently left out of decision making."

SHELLY FERNANDEZ, vice principal at George Washington High School in Daly City recently was elected to the board of directors of the National Association for Women.

Last week Ms. Fernandez completed her first year as school administrator. For the past 10 years she has been teaching bilingual education at Colma Intermediate School and serving as a home counselor. She knows the area well and had long been anticipating the change.

"I was ready for this job, and I love it. I am able to see the overview of the situation from this position. At the moment I have no greater ambition. We do things here with a team approach, and I'm satisfied."

No such satisfaction met her first career efforts. Shelley wanted to be a theatre director, but found that field to be virtually closed to women. That might have been the first of a series of events that made her a natural exponent of the doctrines of NOW.

"At this point NOW is actively concerned in getting legal compliance with its goals. We would like to see more suits filed where women are discriminated against — like the suit that was just won against the Bank of America. The laws are already on the books. NOW wants to see them implemented.

"We're also actively working on the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment. Only five more states are needed, and we're planning rallies in the remaining states like North Carolina this summer."

She also supports NOW's efforts (and Rep. Bella Abzug's bill) to get Social Security benefits for housewives who have never been employed outside the home.

"Women have the right to choose to be housewives because that's as much a fulltime job as mine. Women should receive Social Security benefits just as if they were employed in salaried jobs. Then they wouldn't have to be so dependent — particularly in old age.

"The older woman is a serious problem in society. They're certainly not ready to go out to pasture. A great many are involved in the women's movement — from rural towns as well as the big cities. We all have the same basic things in common."

But one thing not many women have in common with Ms. Fernandez is a brown belt in Judo.

"Judo has helped me a great deal. You learn to get your mind and body together. They believe in maximum efficiency with minimum effort," Shelley explained in her soft, well-modulated and seldom raised voice.

"The kids (at George Washington School) often ask me 'How come when you're mad, you never yell?' That's from my Judo training. The first thing you learn in Judo is to lose the fear of falling, and when you lose that, you start to lose fear itself. When a woman loses that, she becomes very strong."

Is she concerned that her brown belt contributes to a "butch image" that is amplified by her activist feminism?

"No, not at all. My judo teacher is the most delicate, feminine woman you could imagine. Learning to control your body isn't necessarily a masculine thing. The same thing with sports. Just because a woman excells at sports, like Billie Jean King, for example, doesn't mean she has to be masculine."

Seeing that young schoolgirls have the opportunity to develop skills in sports is part of Shelley's job as a member of a NOW task force on education. This work also includes efforts to remove sexual bias from textbooks and to maintain sexual equality in school sports programs and special programs such as woodshop and cooking.

She also chaired the task force on religion that has worked to open church hierarchies to women.

After two years of task force level work for NOW, Shelley decided it was time to seek part of the leadership of the organization, and she went to the Houston convention intending to win one of the 38 seats on the board which were elected at large.

She came to the convention with no printed campaign material, but with a strong conviction to win.

"I used the Harry Truman approach. I personally spoke to practically every person at the convention. I talked, talked and asked what thingsthey would like to see done. It was a real grass roots movement."

And it worked. Shelley is one of six minority persons on the board (seven if you count the single man as a minority person — and in NOW he is a minority), but she isn't the least concerned that she might be a token member of this board, too — a token Chicano.

Shelley is particularly encouraged by the presence of men in Houston. ("Remember it's the National Organization for Women, not of women.")

"Our society is becoming a more sharing thing. This kind of activity liberates men as well as women. In the future we'll be able to share all parts of our society. Right now women don't have to share the bad parts of Watergate because they weren't into it."

Who knows what might or might not have happened if they had been?

New County Program for Alcoholics

An $85,688 program to set up a coastside outpatient treatment program for alcoholics and their families was approved by the Board of Supervisors June 18.

The approval came after a report from Dr. George Pickett, county director of health and welfare, that there is almost no such program for the estimated 4,543 alcoholics now living there.

Supervisors approved a contract with Pyramid Alternatives, Inc., a local nonprofit organization, to aid alcoholics and their families from Half Moon Bay north after Dr. Pickett reported that the only service now provided is one group-therapy session which meets one hour a week in Daly City.

In addition to the alcoholics, the contract with the organization provides for assistance to an estimted 16,500 members of their families.

The company, which submitted one of six proposals, was approved for funding by the San Mateo County Alcoholism Advisory Board and selected by the Department of Health and Welfare, Dr. Pickett reported. He said the staff includes former Vista volunteers and North County Mental Health Workers.

"The contract specifies that the contractor shall provide group and individual counseling for alcoholics and co-alcoholics (members of their families) to assist them in breaking their alcohol dependency and in developing a self-reliant life style." Dr. Pickett wrote.

"Any person regularly appearing under the influence of alcohol may be discharged from the program," he continued. "Preference will be given to residents of the northern coastal communities of the county, but residents of other parts of the county will be treated when space permits."

The agreement was made effective May 7, and runs through June 30, 1975, and the contract provides for an estimated 4,572 patient visits to be provided annually.

Of the contract, $10,000 is allocated for starting cost prior to the actual beginning of the program on July 1.

Supervisors approved a resolution continuing "Project 90," a program which was started in December, 1973, to provide a residential rehabilitation facility for male alcoholics and to continue a "transitional residence" facility at the Casa Mateo at 350 North Bayshore Blvd., San Mateo.

During the first five months of operation, County Manager M. D. Tarshes reported, the facility operated at 83 per cent of capacity, with 55 admissions. The average stay of a patient was 24 days, and many of the patients were referred from the detoxification center at the Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center.

A follow-up study, Dr. Pickett reported, showed that of 96 patients treated between January, 1973, and March, 1974, "59 were still sober, 19 were unaccounted for, and 18 had returned to drinking."

The new contract will add "1¼ staff members" to supplement an all volunteer staff.

Patients provide their own housekeeping and food preparation in self-contained apartment units, and attend daily meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous.

The county pays $5.57 per patient per day towards the program, which is also partially funded by the state and from a Hughes Alcoholism grant.

An agreement with the Institute for Social Concerns for development of a program to teach county employes to learn skills in alcohol abuse detection, prevention and follow-ups was approved. Instruction will be at Mills College.

Westlake Interiors In Court

A civil complaint has been filed in Superior Court against Robert C. Cole, former owner of Peninsula Interiors and now doing business as Westlake Interiors, charging that he falsely advertised in the Yellow Pages of the telephone book as to the quality of his materials and his workmanship. Deputy District Atty. Charles C. Pierpoint reported last week.

Pierpoint said although only 10 complaints are alleged in the complaint, a motion for discovery will be made to obtain Cole's records to see how many cases are actually involved. He said the current complaints come from San Mateo, Foster City, Daly City, San Francisco, Redwood City and Atherton.

Pierpoint charged that Cole, 60, of 1991 Junipero Serra Blvd., Daly City, represented himself in the ads as having two offices in Daly City and Redwood City, when actually he had only telephone answering service, leaving customers no place to complain.

Activities Planned

Invitations went out last week to the dedication of Frontierland Park, and Pacifica's July 4 Fiesta.

William Penn Mott, State Director of Parks and Recreation, will be principal speaker at the dedication of Pacifica's first city park. He will be introduced by Mayor Aubrey Lumley III. Many other state, county and local officials will be taking part in the event.

The celebration will be signaled the previous evening by the American Legion's fireworks show.

The day's events will start with the Kiwanians' Pancake Breakfast, slated at Oddstad School, next to the new park from 7-11 a.m.

GIRL SCOUTING

Scouting keeps America beautiful will be the theme for the 1974-75 year for the Daly City Girl Scout Association, probably to culminate in a large local local celebration of Scouting in 1976, according to local Association Chairwoman Mrs. Margaret Connolly.

The service team, after extensive discussion, chose the theme to best reflect the continuing and special activities of Daly City troops.

Tentative fall schedule will include a "Brownie Beauty" hike, organized by Cadettes, for younger Scouts to pick up trail litter and conservation projects built into Junior and Cadette troop activities.

Girl Scout Sabbath, a Junior Jamboree, Junior and Cadette Camporees, Brownie Revel, an annual Cadette First Class Awards Tea, and an adult awards luncheon also are included in the tentative schedule for 1974-75.

Service team new additions include Nancy Appling as field coordinator and Janice Pettey as area service director. With Margaret Kachur serving as assistant association chairwoman for finance, will be city-wide cookie chairwoman Pat LeBlanc and calendar chairwoman Lynne Bolton.

New Scoutlook editor will be Mrs. Becky Burke, and Mrs. Virginia Rusting will be training coordinator. Mrs. Margaret Connolly continues as Association Chairwoman.

Judy Elder will serve Northern San Mateo County as badge depot chairwoman; Mrs. Mary Ann Dale continue as camp coordinator and Mrs. Donna Barnes will direct consultants.

Other service team continuing adults include Louise Courpet, membership; Virginia Nowicki, nominating; Roz Morino, publicity; and Shirley Figone, registrar.

Roller rink in San Mateo was the site for the end of school year outing of Junior Girl Scouts of troop 2817, led by Diane Holder and Ann Woodlief.

Teresa Cinti, Gail Huskins, Dawne Holder, Donna Pasley, Sharon Muniz, Linda Rogers, Bridget Leday, Lis Vitalis, Chanel Zenn, Linda Farnand, Marva Woodlief, Dana Aldrich, Lorraine Parker, Pat Davis, Lisa Rodriguez, Britta Sundberg and Christine Bergstrom skated during the outing.

Alcoholism Program: Cooperation Pays Off

By GEORGE GOLDING

If your boss threatens to fire you because you lose too many Mondays, your work is falling off, or you're showing up drunk on the job, and your union backs the boss up, you're likely to quit drinking.

So likely that the "recovery rate" of the National Council on Alcoholism's labor-management attack is 75 per cent.

This is far higher than any other group's success with alcoholics, they claim.

Dr. Richard A. Carlson, chairman of the alcohol treatment program committee of the local NCA branch, works at San Francisco's "single men's rehabilitation center" outside Redwood City. Their "recovery rate" is 2 to 4 per cent.

The reason for the labor-management program's success, said management consultant William Livingston, is that "any alcoholic will quit drinking after he hits bottom, his bottom."

An employer can supply that "bottom level," Livingston said, by being willing to fire any employe whose work performance falls below acceptable levels.

Usually, he said, the job is the alcoholic's last bulwark of rationalization. He kids himself that so long as he's still able to work, he's not an alcoholic.

Also, the "job provides the buck that buys the booze, it's his lifeline," and "it would be difficult for him to get another job because the average alcoholic has been on his present job for 18 years."

"We are not anti-booze," Livingston said. "We are not attempting to stop people from drinking, but one out of 10 people who drink has that disease known as alcoholism, and is on the road that leads to incurable insanity, or death."

Because work performance is the key to this new approach to alcoholism, the program has the support of union leaders as well as management.

Union spokesmen admit they find it difficult to fight the lay-off of any man whose alcoholism problem is so bad he only shows up for work half the time.

"What can you say to defend him?" asked Bill Combs of the International Association of Machinists, a union which has led the way in combatting alcoholism by working with United Air Lines to establish a system-wide "alcoholic recovery program."

The effort began here, at United's huge maintenance base opposite San Bruno, and spread across the country.

Key steps are:

• Identification. The supervisor who most closely works with an employe must not diagnose, but must recognize that the worker has a work performance problem, and work with a union representative to call it to the worker's attention.

• Motivation. The employe must be told that he will be fired if he fails to bring his work up to acceptable standards, or refuses to seek whatever treatment is suitable. The company must be prepared to keep this threat.

• Diagnosis. Must be accomplished by a physician, either on the job or off, because the visible symptoms of alcoholism can also be the symptoms of other diseases.

• Referral to a proper agency for treatment, and Lakey says "there are 94 agencies on the Peninsula that work with alcoholics in one way or another."

• Followup is the final necessary step, to insure that the worker is following whatever program is recommended by his doctor, to assure that work performance does not fall off again.

"A reformed alcoholic will not be working at 100 per cent," said IAM member Bill Combs. "He'll be working at 110 per cent."

Speaking during an all-morning conference at the Villa Chartier last week, J. D. Mealey of the Wausau Insurance Co. told the assembled employers and employoyes:

"Alcoholics are sick people who use a disproportionate part of your insurance program, and the dollar figures differ little if treatment of alcoholism is excluded."

Alcoholics receive medical treatment when the disease is not listed among coverable ailments, he said, masked behind reported lung and chest infections, stomach or intestinal upsets, and even muscular or skeletal disorders such as chronic lower back pains.

Medical costs for alcoholics are 3.6 times the average person's, he said, and the "policy of concealment" accepted by many doctors, employers, and fellow employes only allows the worker to continue "drinking himself to death."

"We're not out to identify alcoholics," commented Combs. "We are out to identify work problems."

He and the other experts cautioned that while a worker's immediate supervisor is often the one who must speak to the worker about his work problem, that supervisor must be cautious not to suggest alcoholism or "a drinking problem."

Leave the diagnosis to the doctors, was a repeated refrain.

Once a person's problem has been traced to alcoholism, he can be referred to an appropriate treatment agent agency.

United Air Lines, a front runner in alcoholic recovery programs, even has an "alcoholic counselor" on its staff, "Hub" Hamilton.

"The program is tailored to a person's needs," he says. "Sometimes we send them to detoxification centers, sometimes to Alcoholics Anonymous. There are all kinds of counseling and programs, and we require cooperation.

"We're not trying to get rid of alcoholics," he emphasized. "We are trying to get them restored to productivity.

"We've had some losses, but we've had 171 people with a 70 per cent success ratio."

Combs, the union leader in the United effort, outlined the union's position:

"Any employe having this disease must receive the same consideration and treatment as any other employe having any other disease."

To reach this end, he said, his union has removed from their labor contracts any clause that even mentions alcoholism as a separate type of behavior.

Pacifica Youths In City Work

Starting work in Pacifica this week are 80 young people who will be taking part in the Youth Employment Program.

They are being employed in all departments — thus enabling the city to accomplish a good deal of work it would never otherwise be able to handle with its normal staff.

While most will be working in the public works, and parks, beaches and recreation department, they are being employed in every department.

"There will be a couple working in my office," City Manager Dave Thompson said. "We'll be catching up on our filing."

Sprucing up many of the city's parks will be high on the work program of these youths, most of whom are either in high school or just out of high school.

The city has hired them through the aid of the Neighborhood Youth Corps and, to a minor extent, the Economic Opportunities Commission. They are being paid $2.25 per hour, over an eight-week period, during which they will work for 210 hours, averaging 25 to 26 hours a week.

Flying Goose Still in Race

Flying Goose of Daly City stunned South San Francisco Sunday with a doubleheader sweep to jump back into the North Peninsula Joe DiMaggio baseball race.

Marty Ross and Ralph Sands each had three hits and four RBI's in a 15-8 first game win. Wayne Murray spun a 6-0 shutout in the second game, backed by four hits and two RBI's from Mark Racette.

San Bruno, the North leader at 5-1, split with Lou's 66 of Pacifica. Lou's won the opener, 7-5, while San Bruno came back in the nightcap, 4-3.

Dan Danielson won the second game for SB, with Rod Cunningham driving in the eventual winning run in the sixth. Reg Pomicpic had a two-run homer for Lou's in the second.

Schools taking part included Foxridge, Monte Verde, Skyline, Buri Buri, Avalon and Serra Vista. Bren Boyd of Foxridge won with a time of 34 minutes and two seconds. Although most youths were in sixth grade, there were some running as young as six years old, according to Bob Gehl, Foxridge teacher who started the race. The boy had been jogging the course for some time.

Millbrae Takes 5th Straight

Millbrae reeled off its fifth consecutive Mid Peninsula Joe DiMaggio baseball win Sunday, a 7-2 victory over San Carlos Service Club.

In other Mid games, San Carlos Rayberg beat San Mateo, 6-3, and Bel-Mateo slipped by Lera Electric, 3-1.

Millbrae's Tom Frederico pitched a complete game for his second win. Ara Sarkisian had two hits and Mike Poliakoff two RBI's for Millbrae.

Les Fuller struck out ten and walked just two in taming SM. SCR outfielder Randy Gomez keyed a double play with a fine catch and throw in the fourth that cut off a potential San Mateo big inning.

Water Polo Is Booming Locally

The Peninsula Water Polo Club, started last year by former CSM water polo star Sam Montgomery, has been expanded to include age groups 12 years through seniors (out of high school).

The club is currently conducting water polo programs at Menlo-Atherton and Serra High Schools, College of San Mateo and Searsville Lake.

Former CSM player Bob Rodgers conducts the class at M-A; ex-teammate Dave Gray is the coach at the CSM and Searsville sessions, and Montgomery oversees the Serra sessions.

According to consultant Rich Donner, signups are still being taken every Monday and Tuesday at all four locations.

The Searsville signups are 6-8 a.m., while registration at Serra is 6:30-8:30 a.m. and 7-8:30 p.m. Menlo-Atherton signups are taken from 8 to 10 a.m.

In addition, Donner also announced a summer class in Advanced Water Polo at CSM. The class will start Monday at the CSM pool. For further information on both the Peninsula Water Polo Club and the CSM advanced class, contact Rich Donner at College of San Mateo.

Ex-Terra Novan Visiting Japan

John Raccanelli, Post's Athlete of the Year two years ago, joined 20 other college baseball stars last week for a two-week visit to Japan.

The former Terra Nova pitching ace and ten teammates from the NCAA Champion USC team, plus ten players from other collegiate teams, form the United States All-Stars. The team will barnstorm through Japan and play Japanese all-star teams before sellout crowds of 40,000 for the next two weeks.

Trojan coach Rod Dedeaux selected the all-star team.

Raccanelli, only a sophomore, was a standout hurler for the NCAA champions this season. In the final championship game against Miami of Florida last June 15, he pitched four innings and allowed only one unearned run.

Pacifican Wins Swimming Race

Dan Padilla, Shielahn Street, Pacifica, won the recent Dolphin Swimming and Boating Club 23rd annual handicap swim in a time of 28 minutes.

The one mile course in the Acquatic Park Cove was Padilla's first victory in his two years of San Francisco Bay open water swimming. Twenty men completed the course behind Padilla.

McCrady Is U.S. Champ

Mac McCrady of the Peninsula Grapplers earned himself a berth in the World Cup Wrestling Championships, to be held in late July in the Canary Islands, with a stunning victory in the National AAU Age Group Championships at Long Beach Saturday night.

The San Francisco State University student upset defending heavyweight champion Mike McCready via a pin. McCrady will represent the United States in the World Cup competition.

Meanwhile, two other Grappler boys qualified for the Pan-American Youth Games, to be held July 2-7 at Lima, Peru. According to Grappler coach Lee Allen, a total of $1,250 in donations will be needed to send Pat Villareall of San Bruno and Dave Shultz of Palo Alto to the Pan-Am games.

"Contributions for the boys may be sent to me at Skyline College, 3300 College Drive, San Bruno. Checks may be made out to the Peninsula Grapplers, AAU Wrestling Club," said Allen.

Giants to Host Youth Days

Applications are now available at all Sears Stores for groups interested in participating in the Giants Kids Day Program at Candlestick Park.

Cow Palace Soccer Slate

The survivors of the opening round of the World Cup soccer play will start the semi-final round with two games today.

The eight survivors will battle for places in the World Cup championship game, to be played Sunday, July 7, in Munich's Olympic Stadium.

Six semi-final games will be televised live via satellite at the Cow Palace today, Sunday, June 30, and Wednesday, July 3.

The final will be screened at 8 a.m. on July 7.

Cha-Cha-Cha Net Step

(This is the third in a series on beginning tennis)

By GARRY NIVER and JOHN REED

Despite endless hours of perfecting the 'Ali Shuffle,' tennis pro John Reed tended to discount its worth in the game of tennis.

"It may be clever," countered Reed, "but it won't help you fetch a forehand.

Despite his disparaging remarks about the 'Ali Shuffle,' Reed, nonetheless equates the good tennis footwork with the dance step.

"You have to have both good strokes and good footwork. One without the other leaves you with an inconsistent game," the tennis pro points out.

"It's like doing a box step, only you lead with your back foot. In tennis first you get a partner, then you get music. Once you have the tennis step down pat, then you put it altogether by adding the stroke. And timing becomes the important factor."

According to Reed, the tennis player is always at the apex of the court in his ready stance. "That way he can move to either side and up on the ball with equal effort," he explains.

"You always have to be able to push off your back foot while transferring your weight to the front foot and following through with the racquet."

A word of caution: Reed says that in order to maintain a consistent stroke — which tennis is all about — never reach for a ball.

"It's just a matter of readjusting your footwork. Watch the ball come out of your opponent's racquet and respond right away to it. That way when you get to the area where the ball is you can take a smaller, or larger, step.

"When you move to your right, step out with your back foot so you are ready to step into the ball with your front foot and push off the back foot. When going to your left, put the back foot behind you and slide the front foot over.

Reed recommends coming into a shallow ball at an angle so as to give yourself more area for adjustment.

"Racquet back, bounce, step and hit are the basic things to remember," notes Reed. "In tennis you don't have to be a 9.1 sprinter if your footwork and timing are working. And timing will come after you get your footwork down.

Score: Reed 6-6-6, Niver 0-0-0.

(Next week: The enigma of tennis — The backhand.)

HOORAY, WE DID IT! After completing 50 miles each in the Red Cross "Swim and Stay Fit Program" Julie Colin, left, and Bonnie Burge congratulate each other on their achievement. The young ladies are both members of The Horizon Girls of San Bruno and swam under the supervision of local Water Safety Instructor Pat Kelly.

THE POST'S SPORTS

Le Pacini

SF Giants

It is natural for any Bay Area baseball fan to ask, what's wrong with the Giants? But, acknowledging that the Giants should be doing much better, and without trying to whitewash their antics of recent weeks, a better question might be, "What's wrong with baseball?"

Example: THE Giants have been continually berated for leaving too many runners on base and not getting enough hits because of failure to execute (bunt, hit-and-run, etc.) and poor baserunning. And that is a valid point. Yet, until a real run drouth in the last week or two, the Giants, only sixth in batting and seventh in homeruns in the National League, were second in total run production only to the phenomonally hot Dodgers.

Which means that there were 21 other teams in baseball, many of which were hitting much better than the Giants, who were scoring fewer runs. Imagine how THEY were doing in terms of execution and baserunning!

(The A's, who were at this writing only seventh in the AL in hitting and tied for fourth in homers, were leading the AL in runs scored — tied with the Giants in that category — which is also a good production quotient).

EXAMPLE: The Giants have been criticized for lack of proper spring training conditioning because of all their injuries, yet the Mets have had more injuries than the Giants — both last year and this — and nobody says anything about their conditioning.

Example: As bad as they are, the Giants would be in the thick of the pennant fight if they were in any division but the one they're in.

The answer to, "What's wrong with baseball?" obviously is that it is all weak, or certainly nearly as strong as it was 15 years ago, or since major big league expansion. It is weak, and unbalanced (i.e., the National League West being so far superior to the other three divisions), because there just aren't that many top baseball players to go around, and because those who are good enough usually come up to the major leagues before they are ready, before they have learned their simple fundamentals, such as executing (bunting, hit-and-running, etc.), throwing to the right base, running the bases, and so forth.

It isn't only because of baseball expansion that there aren't enough top athletes to go around, but also because of the expansion of professional sports as a whole. Thirty years ago the only professional sports at which a good athlete could really make a living — if he was exceptional — were baseball and boxing. A good athlete who wanted to be a pro had the option of getting his brains scrambled or becoming a baseball player.

But now guys like Joe Namath, who might have been a helluva pitcher, and Walt Frazier, perhaps a future great shortstop, have other sports to try.

SO, WE GET(because the relatively few good athletes available must stock the majors fast(Gary Matthews, who came to the big leagues without ever having learned to judge a fly ball. We get Dave Kingman, whose best shots go foul, and who hasn't yet learned to close his stance more to see if he can steer some of those seering line drives he hits into the bullpen into left field. We get Ed Goodson, a great young hitter who never learned to bunt. We get Gary Maddox, one of the fastest men in baseball, who gets thrown out 75 per cent of the times he attempts to steal. We get John D'Aquisto, who should have been learning how to control his fast ball in Phoenix rather than San Francisco.

We get a lot of kids who pull hamstrings and stretch shoulder muscles and break ankles because they haven't the time to learn how to condition themselves properly or slide into bases.

Our "super stars" are nothing more than .260 hitters who have managed not to kill themselves by getting hit on the head with fly balls.

The product is confused old-timers like Charley Fox, who are still living in the past, in the days when basic instruction was given in the minor leagues and players reached the big time as finished products.

Thus, Fox concentrates on the wrong things and loses the respect of players who don't think he knows what he's doing . . . because they don't know what they're doing, and because they can have no concept of what Fox expects from them.

because they don't know what they're doing, and because they can have no concept of what Fox expects from them.

As one example of how thin talent is getting, Giant scout Eddie Montague tells us that this year he had only four youngsters on his draft list, as opposed to the usual average of about 18.

"I don't know where the World Baseball league thinks it's going to get its players," Montague says sadly. "Maybe it's time for me to make my comeback as a player."

EDDIE MONTAGUE JR., incidentally, is one of only three umpires retained from last year by the Pacific Coast League, quite an accomplishment for a rookie umpire. The Westmoor High graduate led the Coast League in ejections last year, which is a negative or positive statistic, depending on your point of view.

"I'll tell you one thing," says Eddie Jr. "The players and managers have a lot more respect for me this year."

One thing is for certain. Young Montague is learning his trade and leaving his mistakes in the minors, where training for the major leagues should take place. Eddie says that even if he were called up to the big tent right now, he's not sure he would want to go. He wants to make sure he's ready.

And while we're in the Coast League, you might remember an item we had recently about the Sacramento park, with its 230-foot left field wall. The Solons will not be allowed to play there after this season, but as for this year, it is invalidating or in some cases virtually repressing scouting reports.

Golden West Charter Chapter

'Woman of the Year' Named

Mrs. Gloria Kruse was named Woman of the Year by Golden West Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA) recently at the Royal Inn Motor Hotel.

Annually, each ABWA chapter selects one of its members for this award. Selection is based on the member's achievement in her chosen field of business, education, participation in community activities, and character.

Mrs. Kruse is active in the Food Brokerage Industry, and is office manager for Pacific Marketing Co. She will represent Golden West Charter Chapter in competition for the "American Business Woman of the Year" award.

Announcement of the national award recipient will be made at ABWA's 1974 National Convention, October 18-19-20 in Denver, Colorado.

The American Business Women's Association was founded in Kansas City, Missouri, in 1949. As the association observes its 25th anniversary this year, it has over 1100 chapters, and consists of more than 74,000 active members throughout the United States and Puerto Rico.

Today, thousands of business women are kept informed of new business techniques, and meet business women from all fields of business.

Members gain increased confidence by administrative experiences acquired in association activities.

They are encouraged to continue their own formal education, and through national and local scholarship programs, they assist thousands of women seeking advanced education.

Over $450,000 in scholarships were awarded by ABWA chapters throughout the country during the past year The association's national educational fund provided an additional $100,000 for students. Currently Golden West Charter Chapter is sponsoring scholarships for Miss Joanne Ellis, San Jose State College and Mrs. Miriam Vagt, College of San Mateo, but will transfer to San Francisco State this fall.

Officers of the Golden West Charter Chapter are: Mrs. Beatrice Almond of Belmont, president; Mrs. Patti Tuttobene of Foster City, vice president; Miss Linda Kloeppel of San Jose, recording secretary; Mrs. Juanita Eckert of Burlingame, corresponding secretary and Miss Lottie Brown of South San Francisco, treasurer.

$500 REWARD

For information resulting in the arrest and conviction of person or persons responsible for breaking into the Daly City Scavenger Company equipment building at Mussel Rock.

In recent weeks, an increasing amount of vandalism has been aimed at equipment stored in the building, resulting in thousands of dollars in losses. Most of the damage was sheer vandalism — pouring oil over machinery, smashing equipment windshields, slashing tires, breaking windows and walls and generally inflicting substantial damage on equipment needed for proper operations of the disposal site.

We do not wish to ask for a rate increase to offset a situation like this which has had considerable financial impact on our company. Thus we solicit the cooperation of the general public in curbing this nonsense — the sooner the better!

Calls should be made directly to Daly City police (992-1225) Names will be held in confidence.

Deaths

MARY E. McGRAW

Mary E. (Mame) McGraw, San Mateo County pioneer resident, died Mon- June 17 at Villa Sanitarium in Daly City.

She had been a parishioner of All Souls Church in South San Francisco since 1901. She was a charter member of the South San Francisco Women's Club, and belonged to the Catholic Daughters of American chapter in Daly City.

She was born in the hills behind Half Moon Bay, on a dairy ranch established by her parents who came here from Ireland. She taught a one-room school house in the old Higgins School District, on Purissima Road, going to work with her own horse and buggy.

When she came to South San Francisco, she continued teaching, at the old South San Francisco Elementary School.

She was the last of six children, according to her daughter, Mary Male. One brother, Thomas "Brick" C. McGovern, was sheriff of San Mateo County, according to Mrs. Male, and another brother, Dr. J. C. McGovern, a dentist, was former county coroner. A brother-in-law, Clyde Conrad, had been police chief of South San Francisco.

She was the widow of Henry McGraw, who had been a South San Francisco police officer for 27 years. He died in 1951.

Survivors include three sons, Elton McGraw, owner of McGraw's Pharmacy of Daly City; John McGraw of Napa, and William McGraw of Mountain View; one daughter, Mary Male of San Francisco, nine grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Thursday from Duggin's Serra Mortuary in Daly City. Mass was offered at 11 a.m. at All Souls Catholic Church. Interment followed at Holy Cross Cemetery.

HARRY JOHNSON

Harry John Johnson, 76, South San Francisco, died June 15 at Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco.

He had been a city employe for South San Francisco for 17 years. A native of Wisconsin, he had resided in California for 33 years, and in San Mateo County for 21 years.

Survivors include his widow, Ramona; a brother, C. Arthur Johnson of Labeno, Wis.; and two sisters, June Cultron of Salina, Kan., and Ethel Minarik of Labeno, Wis.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, from the Garden Chapel in South San Francisco. Inurnment at Skylawn Memorial Park followed.

ARTHUR GREEN

Funeral services were held June 17 for Arthur Edward Green, South San Francisco, purchasing agent for Enterprise Electric Company.

He collapsed suddenly June 13 and was rushed to Mary's Help Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

He was born in British Malaya, served during World War II in the U.S. Army, and resided in San Mateo County for a quarter of a century.

Survivors include his widow, Adele; a daughter, Debra, and a sister, Mary, all of South San Francisco.

Services were held at the Garden Chapel, followed by internment at Woodlawn Memorial Park. Contributions to the Heart Fund are preferred by the family

HATTIE HARRIS

Hattie F. Harris, 90, South San Francisco, died June 14 in a Castro Valley Convalescent Hospital.

A native of New Jersey, she resided in California for 72 years.

Survivors include one daughter, Helen Miramontes of South San Francisco; four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday from the Garden Chapel in South San Francisco, followed by inurnment at Woodlawn Cemetery.

3 Escape Car Fire

Three youths escaped injury Sunday night when a car they were changing a tire on slipped off a jack and exploded into flames at a Daly City home, fire officials reported.

Battalion Chief Lyle Church estimated damage to the home at $14,500 in the 9:44 p.m. blaze.

Church said Phyllis Gurewitz, 17, Jan Fracchia, 17, and Dan Tomczak, 18, were chagging a tire on Miss Gurewitz' car, parked inside her parents' garage at 1 Belford Ave., at the time of the incident.

The car fell off the jack, puncturing the gasoline tank, which immediately exploded into flames.

A natural gas meter next to the car also was sheared off and burst into flame, Church said.

It was the second time in recent days Tommy alerted firemen, Church said.

Firefighters were able to confine the fire to the garage area, Church said.

Picketing

Picketing is expected to increase this week as a strike by some 25,000 carpenters continues in Northern California.

It is expected that a number of heavy construction sites will be picketed.

Talks between the union and the Associated General Contractors were not resumed over the past weekend.

AWARDED.

Second Lieutenant James E. Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Stevens, 415 Hazelwood Drive, South San Francisco, has been awarded silver wings upon graduation from U.S. Air Force navigator training at Mather AFB, Calif.

Lieutenant Stevens is being assigned to Luke AFB, Ariz., for flying duty on the F-4 Phantom aircraft with a unit of the Tactical Air Command.

A 1967 graduate of South San Francisco High School, the lieutenant received his degree in political sciences in 1971 from the University of California.

He was commissioned upon completion of Officer Training School, Lackland AFB, Tex.

Local Reaction to HEW Guidelines

Officials of public school districts in San Mateo County are generally unworried about a set of proposed federal guidelines which would outlow sexism in the schools.

Issued last week in Washington, the guidelines proposed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare would go far toward eliminating descrimination by sex in the schools.

The rules would bar sex discrimination in such areas as class offerings, hiring sex education and some aspects of athletics.

"Maybe the rest of the country is finally going to catch up with Sequoia," Dr. George Chaffey said last week. Chaffey is the superintendent of the Sequoia Union High School District.

"Our district has already begun to equalize opportunities for girls and boys. Our girls athletic program is growing. There are no severe restrictions as far as I can see. I think the effect of the guidelines would be minimal."

Dr. Paul Nielsen, superintendent of the South San Francisco Unified School District agrees.

"I don't see this having much effect here in the near future," he said. "There are already more female employees in this district than male ones. We have a preponderance of women here. We have coed PE. The only possible problem area might be in some of the contact sports. We have not had girls playing football."

In that district, however, Nielsen said that female their male counterparts for comparable work.

Dr. A. Hugh Livingston, superintendent of the San Mateo Union High School District, offered that his district has been moving ahead in these matters for more than a year.

Like many other districts in this county, this one is in the process of implementing an affirmative action program which, in principle at least, could equalize employment opportunities in the district.

"We are also taking a close look at some of our courses to make sure that they aren't sexist too," Livingston explained.

The district already has an expanding girls' PE program but Livingston was not sure what effect the HEW rules would have on sports under the state-wide mantle of the California Interscholastic Federation, the CIF.

The regulations would apply to most public educational institutions which receive federal aid.

DC Congregation to Witnesses Conference

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society has revealed plans for 85 district conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States and Canada in 1974.

William Russell, presiding minister of the Daly City congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, said there will be 74 assemblies for English-speaking delegates and eleven meetings in Spanish, French and Italian.

Russell said approximately 130 delegates will represent the Daly City congregation at the convention scheduled for Oakland, Calif., July 18-21.

He added that 50,000 delegates are expected to attend the Oakland convention set for the Oakland-Alameda County Stadium.

Foot-High Pile of Applications

Flood of Requests for Federal Funds

A weary Board of Supervisors late Thursday afternoon concluded three full days of hearings on how to divide up some $1,000,000 in federal revenue sharing funds.

Requests were received from some 60 agencies, cities and organizations totaling more than $5.5 million.

Requests ranged from more than $1 million from the Social Services Division of the County for homemaker and chore services to a modest $300 to purchase video tape for the Art Guild of the Pacifica.

The entire special spectrum was covered as representatives of the needy, cultural and art organizations, youth groups and minority societies appeared to present their programs.

It is expected that County Manager M. D. Tarshes will cull through a foot-high pile of applications and make recommendations to the board, which then will make the final decisions next week.

Among those who appeared was Ron Marshall, representing the Comprehensive Health Planning Council, who asked for a total of $75,000, including $50,000 to survey public and private hospitals to determine what part they will take in a county-wide comprehensive health plan to replace Chope Community Hospital.

The same organization previously evaluated Chope, and will make a similar survey of the other hospitals, clinics and nursing homes in the county.

A $25,000 allocation was asked to develop the comprehensive health plan.

The survey, Marshall reported, will determine how well the public knows its hospitals, and how publicly financed district hospitals, such as Peninsula in Burlingame and Sequoia in Redwood City, spend their tax dollars. He noted that the two hospitals are nearly 30 years old, and there is a need to know what "desirable changes should be made to meet changing needs."

The survey will cover the need for health care for the indigent, where the poor can get health care locally, the requirements for such a program and will "thoroughly review district hospitals as we did with Chope."

The survey will recommend measures to avoid unnecessary conflicts and recommend "who will do what, where and how."

It will determine if the Local Agency Formation Commission should make any changes in hospital district boundaries, set up a comprehensive health plan network consortium, consider the use of hospital district taxes for actual health care, the delivery of health care services, and examine the possibility of overbedding and the duplication of equipment.

All hospitals, who, Marshall reported, are "not wildly enthusiastic about the plan," have been asked to contribute $25,000 to capital expenditures now.

Health care centers, such as Our Lady of Guadalupe Clinic in Daly City and the Charles Drew clinic in East Palo Alto, support the plan, he said. Marshall reported that the study is already getting into Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City and Mills Hospital in San Mateo, and the Kaiser Foundation Plan has agreed to participate on a regional basis.

Among the other requests placed before supervisors were:

- $100,000 for the Daly City clinic.
- $264,363 to establish a paramedic unit within the South San Francisco Fire Dept., in which a unit would be stationed at each fire station.
- $462,999 for laboratory training for paramedics.
- $13,730 for a Rehabilitation Center for Women Alcoholics and $15,000 for their treatment.
- $9,700 for a parental stress hot line for parents of blind children, sponsored by the Human Investment Project.
- $14,675 for counselling the visually handicapped.
- $18,870 for a residence for handicapped youths.
- $125,000 for an isolation ward for sick dogs and cats at the Peninsula Humane Society facility at Coyote Point.
- $22,540 for a Child Care Coordination Council child health care center in East Palo Alto.
- $57,298 for a Community Youth Responsibility program to prevent juvenile delinquency in East Palo Alto.
- $53,187 for child mental health services in San Mateo schools.
- $36,000 to support the San Mateo County Chamber Music Society and to establish an intensive musical training program in South San Francisco schools.
- $12,000 to provide transportation for the Senior Nutritional Site Council in East Palo Alto which serves 1,800 meals a week.
- $52,143 to purchase a fire truck for the Kings Mountain Fire Brigade.
- $441,000 to build a community center building for Belmont, to acquire 2½ acres next to the Twin Pines Park for a city hall site and $46,000 to acquire Waterdog Lake for a sub-regional park.
- $106,000 to Atherton for a juvenile delinquency prevention program, to improve pedestrian-bike pathways and for traffic safety enforcement near schools.
- $30,000 for Hospital Audiences, Inc. to provide hospital entertainment for the elderly and handicapped children.
- $1,200 to support the San Mateo County Choral Society.
- $10,000 to assist the Hillbarn Theater to purchase equipment.
- $34,000 for the San Mateo County Arts Council to establish neighborhood arts and mini-gallery programs.
- $10,500 to restore the old Johnston House south of Half Moon Bay.
- $18,400 for the Whole Earth Project, a new drug abuse and prevention program, at the Carlmont Y.M.C.A.
- $213,738 for the Coyote Point Junior Museum.
- $35,000 for an immunization program to prevent new epidemics.

County Controller Edward McGuire reported that the budget stands at $140.7 million, following additions and cuts made by supervisors, below last year's $141.5 million budget.

The board put over adoption of the final budget until late next month on the advice of County Manager M. D. Tarshes.

Fee Levied on Sharp Park Course

Pacifica City Council Monday night voted 3-2 to impose a $5,000 a year license fee on the Sharp Park Golf Course, owned by the City and County of San Francisco.

Mayor Aubrey Lumley explained that the council was trying to get the attention of San Francisco, which he felt is ignoring complaints of Pacificans who are hampered at playing in the only golf course in their city. Pacificans must pay extra because they are considered "non-residents," and they get second choice in obtaining starting times, the councilmen complained.

The Council introduced the ordinance on May 28, but held over final action until Monday, in order to give time for the San Francisco Parks and Recreation Commission to meet and act on golf course policy.

Councilmen learned that the San Francisco P&R Commission had considered the matter, but did not act, since the commissioners felt that they had just learned about the problem and wanted time to study it.

No representative from San Francisco appeared to protest the new license fee; the only protest was a letter from an attorney for San Francisco who urged that the license fee be postponed indefinitely.

Richard Burton, Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Director, reported that he had met with a representative from the golf course who assured him that he was going to recommend for the 1975-76 budget that all fees be raised for the golf course, but that Pacificans should get residence cards, thus providing them with the same rates as San Franciscans. Card-holders would be able to get starting times by giving the number of the card over the telephone. He would also recommend monthly passes for Pacificans, such as San Francisco buy.

This did not satisfy Farber, who felt that the response was too indefinite for Pacifica.

Opposing the business license fee were councilwomen Janet Fulford and Grace McCarthy.

Fulford felt that such a high license fee was not equitable. Businesses are normally based on their gross income. Such a basis for the golf course would produce a fee of only $200, she pointed out.

McCarthy thought that municipal recreation should not be compared to ordinary business. Pacifica and San Francisco had many problems in common, she declared, and ought to work together.

Mayor Aubrey Lumley admitted that the whole move was simply a way to trying to get the attention of San Francisco, which he felt was insensitive to Pacificans' complaints. He even asked Mayor Joseph Alioto about the golf fees, when Alioto was campaigning in Pacifica.

"We'll talk about that later," Alioto was alleged to have told Lumley.

"This is a way to get him to talk about it later," Lumley declared.

Concern was expressed that San Francisco might retaliate by raising water rates. Lumley and Farber replied that San Francisco is raising them anyway — and has threatened to cut off all water to Pacifica by 1980.

Dave Thompson pointed out that the San Francisco's recreation facility totals 417 acres, has a total assessed valuation of $60,275, representing a fair market value of only $241,100, returning a city tax revenue of just $1,399.

Hearing Set on 40 Townhouses

A proposal for 40 townhouse units on an 8.4 acre parcel in the Pacific Heights section on San Bruno is scheduled for an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) public discussion July 1.

Associate Planner Paul Moeller said the planning department has given the EIR, prepared by J. D. Graham and Associates of Danville, a preliminary review and noted that additional information is needed in numerous categories.

According to Moeller, more information is needed on water quality, air quality, visual impact, grading plan, soils, registrations of persons performing the engineering studies, as well as a complete bibliography and list of organizations consulted for the EIR.

Applicant Christopher Layton, of J. D. Graham and Associates, is requesting rezoning from single family residential to planned development in order to build two proposed 20-unit clusters.

According to the EIR, 20 units will be on the western third and 20 units on the easter third of the site located parallel due south of College Drive, surrounded by Longview and Goodwin Drives. A previous planned development zoning on the site reverted back to single family use when earlier development plans failed to materialize on schedule.

"The cluster type development appears to be the only logical approach for this site," states the EIR. "This building technique is proposed in order to lessen the potentially severe impacts of traffic access and grading.

"In addition," continued the EIR, "the developer will provide two play areas, or mini-parks, and a pathway with an outlook through the open central portions of the site."

The EIR stated the project will be composed primarily of double unit structures "with a few triple unit buildings."

It also noted that there is no existing land use of the site "other than occasional non-intended uses such as trash disposal and trail bike riding." The surrounding area is developed for single family use.

The developer is proposing two access streets to the site from Goodwin Drive, one south of the west Emaron Drive intersection and the other about 360 feet north of the east Emaron Drive intersection, according to the EIR.

Another access, all three deadending within the development, will be at the east edge of the site, from Longview Drive, to serve a nine-unit complex and one play area.

According to the report, "little is possible in the way of ecological mitigation because of the extent of grading disturbance and the very small amount of the site that will be left as common open space."

The main possible mitigation, according to the EIR, is to plant trees and shrubs for slope stabilization to minimize erosion hazard.

Transit District Approval Reported

Both state legislative houses have passed bills allowing creation of a county-wide transit district, S.H. Cantwell, county engineer, reported to a meeting of the San Mateo County Transit Development Project in Redwood City last week.

After returning from Sacramento, Cantwell said the assembly bill should be voted on by the State Senate Thursday, although the assembly is not expected to concur with a combined bill until after it reconvenes after the Fourth of July holiday.

After the enabling legislation, the Board of Supervisors must act by Aug. 15 to place the proposal for the 389-mile, $27,259,500 bus transit system before voters at the November General Election.

Cantwell noted a final draft of the system has been completed after 20 months of study, and the proposed project now goes to state and federal agencies for approval. He predicted federal approval late this year.

Cantwell pointed out that studies on the upgrading of the Southern Pacific commute system and to extend BART into San Mateo County are still underway.

The system, which would provide "express routes" along Cabrillo Highway, Interstate 280, Interstae 380, El Camino Real, the Bayshore Freeway and across the San Mateo Bridge from Hayward, would be financed mostly from federal funds, and no additional taxes would be levied during the first five years of operation.

San Bruno Budget Raised

San Bruno councilmen, after completing their first review of the entire 1974-75 budget Saturday, added $9,300 to the $6,741,899 initially proposed by City Manager Gerald Minford.

There are no figures on employe salaries, which still are in various stages of negotiation, and can affect the final outcome of the budget.

The addition to the budget, as recommended by Minford, included $6,000 to the library budget as contingency funds and $3,300 in the fire department's budget for fire alarm systems.

Minford has also proposed a 9.6 cents per $100 assessed valuation tax rate increase to help finance his $6.7 million budget.

At least two council members have indicated they want the present 93 cents per $100 assessed valuation rate to either remain the same, or be lowered.

A decision on the tax rate must be made by August 29, according to Minford, who said he planned to put the budget on the July 8 city council meeting agenda for official approval.

Mayor Tony Governale instructed Minford to "go with the (proposed) budget without a tax rate increase." Minford said he would bring back possible ways of retaining the tax rate, but added that he may not necessarily recommend them.

Grow Own Plants From Seed

By IVA NEWMAN

When the price of one small bedding plant is equal to the cost of a packet of seed that will produce 50 or more plants of the same variety, it is time to grow your own.

We went shopping for a few plants of the Giant Pacific Series delphinium and found the cost of one plant was about equal to a packet of seed that would give up to four dozen plants of the same variety. It takes time and some preparation but there is something quite special about getting a stalk of flowers five feet high from a tiny dark seed that you pushed into the soil yourself. Then, too, if I get the seeds started right away my young plants will send up a small stalk of flowers this summer or early fall just as the plants I planned to buy will do.

If you have a small garden you may not have room for more than a half dozen or so plants but think about putting some of the young plants in pots or cans when they are ready to set out and you have excellent birthday and Christmas gifts ready to wrap. Here again they are something special because you brought about the miracle. Then, of course, you do not need to plant every seed in the packet. You can fold the top of the packet down, secure it shut with a piece of tape, place it in a glass jar with a tight lid and put it in the refrigerator. Many types of seeds can be kept refrigerated for a year without spoiling. We test refrigerated seed, before planting, by wrapping a few seeds in a damp cloth or paper towel placed in a plastic bag. When the little yellow embryo splits the shell or seed covering you know the seed is viable.

Clay Seed Pans

We prefer eight-inch, shallow, seed pans for growing seeds we don't wish to put in the open ground. These are easy to lift and very easy to protect from predatory birds and pests such as snails, slugs and earwigs. It is also very easy to make a little plastic tent, with a hole at the top, to keep the moisture in and speed germinating. You can also stretch a piece of plastic across the top of a freshly seeded pot and secure it with a large rubber band. This also keeps the moisture from escaping. We have also used a piece of newspaper covered with a sheet of glass. A double thickness of newspaper should be used under a plastic covering also.

To prepare the pots for seed sowing, we wash them in a solution of bleach and water to make sure they do not contain any disease organisms. They are then dried in the sun for a couple of days.

For a planting mixture we use equal parts topsoil, sand and Canadian peat moss. This is mixed in an old metal dishpan, thoroughly moistened then placed in the oven at 180 to 200 degrees for two hours. This kills any disease organisms and any weed seeds. I do this when the family is away as it smells bad and when I take it out I spray the kitchen with a spray disinfectant that eliminates odors. When cool the mixture is put through a quarter-inch screen and it's ready to use.

Put enough soil in the pots so that when it is firmed down the surface will be about one inch below the top of the rim. Use a smooth-bottomed jar to firm the soil, making sure that it is snug against the sides of the pot. If you use a flat cover the bottom with two thicknesses of newspaper then slash it in a few places to provide drainage. For firming the soil in a flat we use a short length of 2 x 4. Remember the soil is firmed not packed.

We use a flat when we want just a few plants of several varieties. We make little furrows across the width of the flat two inches apart. The depth of the furrow depends upon the size of the seed being planted. We have also found that it pays us to plant the seed in the furrows one at a time so there is little or no thinning to be done. This is done for two reasons. First, we hate to pull up perfectly good seedlings even though we know those left will be spindly if we don't do it. We have also found that spacing the seed about an inch apart saves thinning and it also lets the plants get larger and stronger before they have to be transplanted.

The seed is covered by sifting the planting mixture through a fine sifter.
